VIOLATED FEDERAL LAWS

Judge Bingham's Decision Directs Dissolution of Two Combines

The Fish Trust has received its death blow!

Judge George H. Bingham in the Federal Court today announced his decision, finding for the government and against the wholesale fish combinations in the equity suits against the Bay State Fishing Company, the Boston Fish Pier Company, the Boston Fish Market Corporation, the Commonwealth Ice & Cold Storage Company, the New England Fish Exchange and four independent dealers.

By the terms of his decision the Bay State Fishing Company, whose officers and stockholders were given jail sentences and heavy fines in the county court a few days ago, and the Boston Fish Pier Company, must dissolve. The exchange and the Boston Fish Market Corporation are permitted to continue, provided they make radical changes in their methods, according to suggestions handed down by the court. Failing in this, the exchange and the Fish Market Corporation must also dissolve.

The decision creates a free market at the big South Boston Fish Pier for both wholesalers and retailers, and does away with the fixing of prices by the wholesalers. It also reduces the assessment from the fishermen.

Salient points in Judge Bingham's decision, which thus ends a case which has been before the United

Boycott in Full Swing; Legislators Demand Trustees Explain New Cost

The Boston Elevated lost approximately 14 per cent. of its business on the first day of the 10-cent fares, as compared with the business of the preceding day, according to Treasurer H. L. Wilson of the company.

The gain in money in the company from the corresponding day last year was 32 per cent.

Fourteen per cent. fewer people were carried on Thursday than on Wednesday, but in the opinion of the treasurer, this was partly due to the weather on the first day of the new fare.

Usually, Mr. Wilson says, Wednesday and Thursday run nearly parallel in the number of people carried.

Accurate figures showing whether or not the L cabin by the 10-cent fare will not be available for several days.

Thousands of Bostonians broke out today in open revolt against the imposition of the 10-cent fare on the Elevated and demanded cheaper fares.

Beginning early in the day on their way to work thousands showed their resentment by refusing to ride on the Elevated, thus playing a boycott on the road.

In resolutions offered by Representatives in the Legislature the trustees of the road were called upon to show by facts and figures why a five-cent fare could not be made profitable. Also a committee was provided to confer with the trustees to devise some method by which the financial

GUILFORD AND OUIMET WIN MATCHES

Winchester Country Club, July 11.—Francis Ouimet, celebrated Woodlawn golf star, continued to play a brilliant game in the third round of the Massachusetts amateur championship here today and defeated Fred J. Wright, Jr., of Allendale, by 3 up and 1 to go.

Jesse Guilford of Woodlawn won over A. D. Knight of Worcester by 7 up and 6 to go.

Parker W. Whittemore of the Country Club proved too good for N. W. Dean of Oakley and won his match by 1 up.

It took Larry Dolan of Homestead nineteen holes to defeat A. H. Waters of Woodlawn, 1 up.

Ouimet will play against Whittemore in the semi-final round this afternoon, while Guilford had Patton as an opponent.

President May Veto Bill That Repeals Daylight Saving

Washington, July 11.—Reports President Wilson would veto the agriculture appropriation bill because of the rider repealing the daylight saving law, were current in official circles today.

At the White House it was learned that the message had not yet been signed, although it has been before the President ever since his return.

White House officials declined to discuss the possibility of a veto, merely stating that the President was "giving the measure his attention before taking any action upon it."

ACCUSED OF PEDDLING JEWELRY UNLICENSED

James Scott, colored, alias Alphonso Cortez, was today found guilty of peddling jewelry without a license and sentenced to three months in jail. He appealed and was held in $200 bail. Scott was arrested by Inspector Burke and Special Officer Morrissey in the waiting room at South Station. The police say he offered diamond rings for sale. Interested an unsuspecting customer and then substituted a ring of similar design but inferior quality.

MARINE TIEUP THREATENS THE EAST

New York, July 11.—The threatened strike of 10,000 sailors employed on coastwise vessels hinged today upon a conference now in progress in Washington between officials of the United States Shipping Board and union officials.

Labor leaders here declared today that if the strike is called it will practically paralyze the coastwise shipping industry from Maine to Texas. They said 250,000 men will walk out.

Twenty thousand firemen, oilers and water tenders went out on strike here today.

More than 100 coastwise ships now in harbor suspended operations immediately after the strike was called. The men demand more money.

Three vessels, two of the southern Pacific Company and one of the Ocean Steamship Company, are now lying helpless in port.

R-34 FLIES 1800 MILES OF HER TRIP HOME

By International News Service.

London, July 11.—The British dirigible R-31 had flown nearly 1,800 miles on her homeward journey from Long Island to the British Isles at 5:10 o'clock this morning, New York time, and was more than 1,000 miles east of Cape Breton Island, off the northern coast of Nova Scotia. A wireless to the Admiralty at 8 o'clock this afternoon gave her position at that hour as 46 degrees north 39:30 west.

With her homeward flight more than half completed, the big airship has nearly two-thirds of her gasoline supply left. When Major Scott reported his position to the Admiralty at that hour he said that the R-34 had consumed only 1,643 gallons of fuel and had 3,027 gallons remaining in her tanks.

The message received by the Admiralty this afternoon was the first word from the R-34 in many hours. The absence of news from the British dirigible was beginning to cause some uneasiness because weather reports showed a storm area in mid-ocean. For two hours the Air Ministry flashed messages out upon the ocean without any response from the R-34 and it was feared that her wireless receiving apparatus was out of commission.

FEAR BOSTON SHIPPING WILL BE TIED UP

Paralysis of the coastwise shipping of New England by a strike on July 16 became apparently inevitable today when the New England Steamship Association voted not to grant the demands of the sailors for a closed shop. About the same time the U. S. Shipping Board here was instructed from Washington to ignore wage demands of sailors.

TEN-CENT 'L' FARE DRIVES THOUSANDS TO PATRONIZE THE TRAINS

BOYCOTT IN FULL SWING

Many Walk, Others Get Out Bicycles; Move Is On for Jitney Service

condition of the company may be improved.

These resolutions, which were referred to the committee on rules were offered by Representatives Thomas A. Niland of East Boston, and George M. Wood of Arlington, Republicans, and Joseph A. and William M. Donne of Roxbury, Democrats, also a strong opposition to the 10-cent fare system of lines, the Boston & Northern Street Railway and the Lynn & Boston Railroad.

So intense and unexpected had the dissatisfaction become at noon today that opinion formed in the Legislature, where insistent demands were made on the trustees to explain to the House why the 10-cent fare was necessary.

Meanwhile the trustees, who had agreed that no one but Chairman James F. Jackson might issue a statement for the public, remained silent and Mr. Jackson had left the city and was not return until Monday.

Taking advantage of the lower tariffs on the railroads thousands of commuters came to the city on the early trains, while others, refusing to pay the additional two cents, walked from Charlestown, Cambridgeport, Roxbury and South Boston. In East Boston the North and south ferries and the Winnisimmet line received tremendous patronage.

On every hand was heard the most bitter denunciation of the Elevated Railway, while civic and improvement associations announced preparations for immediate protest.

Demands for jitney bus lines were also made, and it is expected that applications soon to the introduction of this method of conveying many thousands of people into the suburbs.

JITNEYS IN MALDEN.

In Malden, we learn, jitney lines were made effective today, the paying from Highland avenue to Malden square, a distance of three miles. Malden square to Franklin square, Melrose. The fare was five cents, but it is said that the jitneys had no advertising, comparatively few persons were willing to pay it.

In South Boston it is understood that a concerted demand will be made for a bus line, as the Broadway cars are actually unequal to the additional requirements of transportation in the Andrew Square district.

In Somerville the Board of Aldermen opposed the discontinuance of operation of the lines and legislating them. The lines will be in force for only another week, $1 for drivers license. Under the provisions of the ordinance each machine must be inspected regularly with two examinations, and the permitted to carry only seven passengers as there are seats.

One of the regulations is that its intention of operating each line, and to order it about time on the line. Another regulation is that the time of the driver and the number of meeting.

C. S. Hennessy, Boston automobile dealer, is reported as saying that he is receiving many inquiries and is more disposed to agree to expose to build special bus bodies with the idea of starting lines. He has no definite plans to charge, however, and fare and run the lines, but expects to be able to do so if the plan is worked out successfully.

SOMERVILLE DEMANDS FACTS.

The mayor of Somerville has issued an order requiring the trustees of the Elevated to furnish him information as to the number of passengers carried on each car on the Highland, Arlington and Lechmere lines between the hours of 6 and 9 a. m. from Somerville square and also the time of arrival at each of these cars at Haymarket square.

They further request the exact number of passengers in each of these cars at Haymarket square, Lechmere square, the number of cars available for the service, the number actually in service and what the trustees propose to do toward the betterment of conditions.

HIGHER TRAIN FARES, TOO?

The feeling of discontent was further intensified in Dorchester by persistent rumors that the New Haven was about to raise the fare. Inquiry to a query from the American as to the truth of these rumors, Mr. Wilson of the passenger department of the New Haven road, declared that he had nothing definite to say at this time.

"I can't say anything definite right now," said he, "but there is always the possibility that fares may be raised on the trains in the future."

The South Boston Citizens Association, with more than 10,000 residents of that district, has begun a call for a protest meeting which will be held in the Municipal Building on next Broadway Monday evening next. The fact that the 10-cent fare will be officially denounced and plans discussed to secure relief.

In Charlestown and Cambridgeport large numbers of workers employed in Boston arose a little early and walked into the city. Arlington commuters patronized the Boston & Maine as they had not done since before the war. By purchasing monthly tickets they were able to ride from Arlington for a little over eight cents.

The same conditions obtained in Allston, where a 25-ride ticket could be purchased at an average cost of 9½ and three-fifths cents a ride. The Boston & Albany and the Circuit trains from Brookline and the Newtons were crowded also, as well as those from Everett, Malden and Melrose and other suburbs.

LESS THAN 4-CENT FARE.

With the Boston & Maine Railroad selling a twelve-ride trip ticket for 4 cents from the Cambridge and West Cambridge stations large numbers of Cambridge people took advantage of the 33-cent fare.

At the Cambridge station, where popularly known as Porter's station, which is but a short distance from the Somerville line, the sale of twelve-trip tickets increased 40 per cent over that of yesterday.

East Cambridge people in large numbers walked over the Craigie bridge to Boston. North Cambridge people having business in Harvard square, a little over a mile distant, found the walk a welcome change.

That the public is coming back to rail cars was apparent on the increased numbers of riders seen on the streets of the university city. Residents of Cambridge factories were also in the city and also those who live in Arlington, Belmont, Watertown and Lexington are getting cheaper carfares, and have the added saving money in coming to work on foot.

A Cambridgeport bicycle dealer that a Boston American reporter that during the past week he had noticed a large increase in his sales.

HYDE PARK IN ANGRY.

Hyde Park citizens are particularly riled, as one of the arguments advanced in favor of the 10-cent fare was the probability of lower fares. They now pay ten cents on both the Providence and Bay State roads. By using the Providence division they can ride for purchasing a twenty-five ride ticket and eleven cents with a transfer.

For the convenience of commuters the Boston American prints a map showing the limit of rides on the different steam lines where, by use of 12-ride tickets, the fare is ten cents or under. Fares for these lines follows. Fares for all stations nearer Boston is under 10 cents.

ARMY MAN, JILTED, SUES GIRL HE SAVED FROM RUSSIAN FIRING SQUAD

SEEKS TO RECOVER $1,700

Says "Handsome Man" Won Heart of Gertrude Barish, Simmons Student

Seizing a charming girl from imminent death in front of a Russian firing squad, paying her passage to the United States, and even loaning her $1,700 to pay her living expenses and her tuition at Simmons College, didn't keep his promised bride from jilting him for a handsomer man, says Leonard A. Swarthe, draughtsman in the signal corps, Northeastern Department.

Swarthe is suing the girl in the case, Miss Gertrude Barish, in the Suffolk Superior Court, to recover his $1,700 and also for $10,000 to help him forget his broken heart.

Swarthe's tale as revealed in the court is probably the most romantic that ever brightened this musty atmosphere of that august chamber. On paper it reads like a movie scenario.

It was over a year ago—as a real author might begin the story—that Swarthe and Miss Barish met in war-torn Russia. Previously the girl had got into trouble with the tyrannical authorities because of her political views, she was arrested and sentenced to be shot.

ARRANGED FOR ESCAPE.

Swarthe, enamored at first sight, arranged for her escape, and guided by him she cheated the firing squad of a beautiful victim. He led her away in Petrograd's recesses until circumstances and the darkness of the night made their escape safe from that city of terror. By the traditional "short stages" they made their way out of Russia, and finally sailed for America. Swarthe, according to himself, fell in love and made love, Swarthe claims, he loaned Miss Barish $1,700, and she began her studies at Simmons College.

He called on her at intervals, but at length noted that her attitude toward him was different from what it had been during the dismal journey out of Russia and the long trip across the Atlantic. He asserts that she became enamored of another man.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

Finally, says he, in the presence of the third member of this eternal triangle, she told him that she loved the other man and broke her engagement between herself and Swarthe was broken.

The final chapter of the romance finds Swarthe in court, and of this part of the tale he professes to be glad. He was driven to go to the law to get some of my rights. No one will ever know all that I have been through, and in this estrangement of affection. I took the girl under my charge from Russia—my last cent to protect her interests, and after being here but six months I had to face her lack of devotion. And I had hoped it would all end in our marriage."

75 CENTS AN HOUR DEMANDED BY CARMEN

Brockton, July 11.—Demands of the motormen and conductors on the Eastern Massachusetts Railway, formerly the Bay State Railway, call for wages of 75 cents an hour, an eight-hour day, and a half pay for Sunday and holiday work, with other differences to be settled by arbitration after a short time.

Mechanical department employes of the road demand a 44-hour week with no reduction in pay. Spare men want time and a half pay after 12 hours' work a day.

JOFFRE WITHDRAWS FROM VICTORY PARADE

Paris, July 11.—Parisians were amazed today by the announcement that Marshal Joffre, hero of the Marne, will not take part in the Allied victory parade July 14.

The Matin states that "Papa" Joffre was first invited, but that the authorities encountered no touch engagement in persuading him to take place in the procession that he solved their difficulties by declining to participate. Later he accepted an invitation to a seat in the President's tribune.

WARE TRIO CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Ware, July 11.—As a result of the death of Marcin Mamurenk, Saturday night, in the State Hospital at Northampton, Fred G. Miller, Henry Carbonneau and Sylvester Milos, all Ware men, charged with assault, were arraigned in District Court.

On request of District-Attorney J. H. Schoonmaker the charge was changed to manslaughter in each case and bonds were placed at $5,000 each after counsel for the men had requested and been granted a continuance of the case until July 28.

John M. Glover of Salem Corporation Accused in Petition for Receivership

John M. Glover, treasurer of Daniel Glover & Sons, Incorporated, shoe manufacturers of Salem, is accused of appropriating large sums of money belonging to the corporation, in a bill of complaint filed today in the Salem Court.

The bill was filed by Herbert A. Barron and others, stockholders in the concern, which is capitalized at $100,000. The bill sets forth that, according to the bylaws, the annual meeting should have been held April 22, but has not been held. It charges that the business is being negligently conducted, and says that John M. Glover, Patrick F. Crowley and Robert D. Stone, officers of the corporation, have been negligent and refused to call the annual meeting. It asserts that the assets are being depleted.

The bill petitions that the treasurer and other officers be enjoined from appropriating money or property of the company, that the treasurer be ordered to replace the money he is alleged to have appropriated, and that a receiver be appointed.

COMPLAINS TO POLICE OF ROXBURY ROBBERY

The police of the Dudley street station early today were informed of the alleged robbery of William Anzalone at the United States oil and Gasoline Station, No. 965 Massachusetts avenue, Roxbury. Anzalone, who lives in the North End, reported that while two of his friends sat in a back room at the gasoline station, he was held up at the point of a revolver by three men who bound him and feet and took his watch, chain and $27.00 from his coat pocket. Anzalone said he was found unconscious by his friends after about no pounds during the alleged holdup. The victim gave the police a description of his assailants. He said they arrived in an old automobile.

LEXINGTON WOMEN TO FORM A. L. AUXILIARY

Lexington, July 11—A woman's auxiliary to the Stanley Hill Post, No. 24, American Legion, will be organized here shortly among the local organized war workers and the female relatives of the men who served in the world war.

Miss Mabel P. Cook, recording secretary of the Lexington Historical Society, is the prime mover in the organization of an auxiliary in this town, and she is working with Mrs. Everett S. Emery and Mrs. Frank W. Herrick. A meeting will be held shortly to take definite steps toward the formation of the auxiliary.

Lieutenant Rutherford is regarded as one of the most painstaking officers in the Brookline department.

DRASTIC TAX ON INCOMES NOW PROPOSED

Earnings in Excess of $1,000 Included in Bill Reported in House

Incomes in excess of $1,000 earned by men and women in professions, employments, trade or business are to be taxed at the rate of 2% per $1,000 if a bill reported in the House by the Committee on Taxation becomes law. It is believed to be the most drastic income bill ever offered.

The bill leaves the rate at 1½ per cent., while lowering taxable incomes from $2,000 to $1,000 for single persons and from $2,000 to $2,000 for married persons.

"Labor will fight this bill to the utmost," Charles J. Hodsdon, legislative agent of the State branch of the American Federation of Labor, declared today.

LABOR WILL FIGHT IT.

"Think of the effect of such a bill upon the worker earning a small salary." Mr. Hodsdon declared. "Any man who doesn't earn above $1,000 a year with prices what they are can't pay his bills. And the total exemption allowed a man with a wife and family is $1,000.

"A man earning above $2,000 is over and hoeing a wife and three children would have to pay the tax. And no consideration whatever is shown for the man with five or six children.

"The bill allows a deduction of $500 for a wife and $250 for each child, the total exemption not to exceed $1,000. And if the wife feels it necessary to work in order to augment a large family her income is not exempted from taxation.

"I don't know what the committee could have been thinking of to report any such bill. No one believed they would have the hardihood to do it."

HEARING NEXT WEEK.

Stiff opposition to the bill is expected when it comes up for a hearing before the House Committee on Ways and Means next week. The bill is dated to take effect next year.

There is in the Senate a bill providing for a 2½ per cent. tax upon incomes of single persons above $2,000 and of married persons above $3,000. This super-tax will be in effect for two years, beginning this year.

WILDCAT CHASES BOYS ON HIKE TO CANADA

Montpelier, Vt., July 11.—While on their 300-mile hike to Canada, Ralph Holbrook and Rupert Robinson, Keene, N. H., high school graduates, were chased by a Vermont wildcat while passing through Williamstown Gulf.

Robinson, who carried a revolver, fired two shots at the animal, which then ran into the woods and made the night hideous with its cries. The boys ran to Williamstown, where they put up at a hotel instead of bunking out of doors.

FINE MOTORISTS WHO GIVE WRONG SIGNAL

Captain James F. Hickey of Station 7, East Boston, has arrested operators of automobiles who fail to give proper signals, and general speedsters of the road, had twenty-one motorists in the East Boston district police court before Judge Barnes. Seventeen paid fines aggregating $150 and four contests are pending.

WORCESTER TO USE ONE-MAN CARS ON SMALL LINES

Worcester, July 11.—Plans are being made by the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Company for the operation of one-man trolley cars on certain "non-profitable" lines on the local system, it was learned today. The cars has been granted by the Public Service Commission. Various towns in Worcester county used small lines in the city will be used.

Ten Politeness Rules That Won $15,000 for Conductor

New York, July 10.—"I like to treat people the way I would like to be treated."

This, according to George F. Conroy, Erie railroad conductor, who received a bequest of $15,000 in the will of Mrs. Ellen Ryan, wealthy shoe manufacturer, must have been responsible for the expression of appreciation from Mr. Adams, who was formerly passenger on Conroy's train.

At his home at No. 24 Laidlaw street, Tuxedo Park, Conroy lives with his mother, to whom he made a present of the bequest. She confirmed the rules followed for courtesy that he follows.

They are:

1—Make the passenger feel that the railroad on which you are employed is the most fortunate to go to any length to serve its patrons.

2—Always be ready to assist women with babies and small children.

3—Help the aged at every opportunity, but will be old yourself.

4—Protect women and girls traveling alone. Women and girls know you are protecting them.

5—See that your train is ventilated as perfectly as possible.

7—Ask for tickets in a kindly, modulated voice.

8—Answer questions truthfully and cheerfully and completely.

9—Help passengers in boarding and alighting from trains.

10—Remember the Golden Rule.

Doll-Size Bathing Suits Give Coney a Shock Short and Sweet

New York, July 11.—Nine meager one-piece bathing suits encasing or partially encasing nine exceptionally pretty girls, gave Coney Island a shock such as it has not had the pleasure of enjoying since the edict against one-piece suits were promulgated.

The wrath of all the men within a hundred feet of the bathing beauties, who had just emerged from the ocean, didn't appear to be directed over the scores of disapproving policemen. Indeed, they frowned at them and were preparing to mob the waiter when Parkinson King, Joe Willis and Jim Carlin, the Coney Island precinct hotshots, got to learn what the riot was all about.

One glance told them.

The three officers are married men and it would be unfair to say they were more than one look before deciding what was their sworn duty—and anyway, one look was an eyeful.

"MORE CLOTHES," HE CRIED.

"Get off the beach and put on more clothes," Carroll, after he had regained his gasp.

"It's no such thing," retorted one of the girls.

One-piece bathing suits are against the law," warned Carroll.

"Who says so?" was in turn the question asked, chortled a little beauty performing a dance step or two.

"Why, this year's Atlantic City bathing contest was won by a girl in a one-piece suit," affirmed the municipal-minded girls.

SAD AND GLOOMY END.

The officers, however, compelled the girls to retire to the bath house and arrest themselves in street attire then took them to the station house in automobiles in which the nine had come to the beach.

Desk Lieutenant Thurston held a reception and asked the girls for their names, ages and residences so he could write them in his pretty book.

The girls were having the time of their young lives until the courteous lieutenant sent for the matron and said:

"Now these young ladies to their rooms."

They were led to cells, which were not unlike the cells in rooms in the hotels, and seemed to be having the little island upside down trying to tie up backs.

HUNT GIRL AIDES OF FUGITIVE BANDIT

Gunman Who Fled Hospital Believed Dying in Providence Underworld

Providence, July 11—Somewhere in the underworld of this city, attended by the two young girls who aided him to escape a police guard in a local hospital, James Wilson, the self-confessed Cambridge highwayman, is believed by the police to be dying.

Wilson when he escaped carried in his breast the bullet obtained by Nicholas Landi, a taxi driver, after Wilson attempted to hold him up on a busy street in Warwick. The physicians were about to probe for the bullet when the auto bandit made his break for liberty.

Police and State detectives are combing the Providence underworld for the girls, of whom a good description has been obtained, and those who saw them when they visited Wilson a few hours before his escape. Also a particularly close watch is being kept on the few disreputable physicians and "healers" who haunt the city's half world and might be induced to care for the wounded fugitive.

Thursday morning at daybreak Wilson was missing from his bed. He called the last company from a bake shop near the hospital and the driver picked him up on the Clifford street lodging house where he learned the identity of his caller. Detectives watched the house for the gunman and do not believe Wilson can leave for in his present critical condition, they said, it is a police obvious to his escape.

"They followed me, all right. I was out of money and thought the Appolang road would be a good place to get some. I had the nerve, but he got to me first and beat I am."

Local police are assisting the Warwick police in the search, and it is believed Wilson will be apprehended.

Hospital attendants declare Wilson simply walked from his bed in the basement to a near door and out of the hospital before he suffers while they were put to the ward.

BELA KUN THREATENS EXECUTION TO FOES

(Exclusive Cable to Universal Service from the London Daily Express.)

Vienna, July 10 (via London, July 11)—Bela Kun, the Red dictator of Hungary, has sent a decree to Belgrade demanding the extradition of the counter-revolutionaries who escaped into Serbia on pantloon. If they are delivered they will be tried for treason, said advices from Budapest. The monitress orders the bourgeoisie to surrender hostages or else suffer the consequences.

BOSTON MEN NAMED FOR IMPORTANT POSTS

Washington, July 11—The following nominations have been sent to the Senate:

To be United States attorney, John F. Crosby of Hartford, for Connecticut.

To be United States marshals, John J. Mitchell of Boston, for Massachusetts, and Thomas A. Duffy of New York, southern district of New York.

To be a member of the United States Shipping Board—John Barton Payne of Illinois.

DROPS DEAD WHILE VISITING IN EVERETT

Henry Oxley, 35 years old, of No. 24 Calhoun avenue, Everett, dropped dead of heart disease in the home of George Heustis, a neighbor, at No. 276 Ferry street, Everett. Medical Examiner William H. McHain reported death due to heart disease.

4 SENTENCED IN $10,000 THEFT APPEAL

Two Charged With Stealing and the Others With Receiving Shoes From Express Cars

Two men charged with stealing and two others with receiving $10,000 worth of shoes from the American Railway Express Company were sentenced by Judge Wentworth in the Municipal Court today to serve six months in jail. All four appealed and bail was fixed at $3,000 in each case.

The four are:

Walter List and Charles Prescott, charged with receiving stolen property, and John D. Jenkins and George B. Hogan, charged with stealing the shoes. Jenkins and Hogan were employed as teamsters for the American Railway Express Company.

Special Officer Manning traced a large quantity of the shoes to New York and has recovered some of them.

200 EMPLOYES STRIKE AT SOUTH BOSTON PLANT

Two hundred employes of the Hersey Manufacturing Company, which manufactures water meters at No. 911 Second street, South Boston, struck today, when their demands for a 15 per cent. increase in wages was refused. The strikers, twenty-five of whom are women, say they were told by the manager, when Friday, that each would have to apply individually to his or her foreman for an increase. There is no union at the plant, but the strikers are banded together in an informal organization.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Ruby Robinson, a colored man, charged with having in company with two others, robbed Thomas Marcoya of $45 on April 4 last, was today held in $2,000 bail for the Grand Jury. Marcoya was set upon by three men at Lawrence and Auburn streets, West End, and the money taken from his pocket. A week ago Saturday he saw Robinson in the West End and identified him as one of his assailants. Robinson's arrest followed.

ANOTHER WALTHAM RESIDENCE RIFLED

Burglars who have been rifling Waltham residences closed for the Summer broke into Ronald Lyman's home on Beaver street, Waltham, while the family was away, and took $17 in money and considerable loot in jewelry and silver. The Waltham police are not certain how many of the articles were obtained. They are inclined to the opinion that the gang of house burglars is operating from the Cambridge-Boston line, where owners of residences have closed up their Summer home in the mountains.

"MATCHED" OUT OF $150 BY PROVIDENCE SHARPS

Providence, July 11—Winthrop S. Gage of Brookline, Mass., recently of Gage & Gage, N. Y., was "matched" out of $150 by two sharp Providence gamblers early today, he complained to the police. Gage's home is at No. 3-2 Greenville avenue, Brookline.

There is no Greenville avenue or Winthrop S Gage listed in the Brookline directory.

VANDALS PAINT OUT NAMES ON HONOR ROLL

Stonington, Ct., July 11.—Vandals early today obliterated the names on the Stonington honor roll, inscribed on a board in the centre of the town. The board was covered with splotches of dark paint. Dissatisfaction by fresh expressed over the size of the board, many having claimed it was too small and "cheapened" the town.

NATION WARNED OF GIGANTIC FOOD TROST

Report to President Shows Grave Danger to Public in Packer Combines

Washington, July 11—The nation's food supply will soon be dominated by the "Big Five" meat packers unless drastic action is taken forthwith, the Federal Trade Commission stated in a report to the President on its investigation of the meat industry, made public today.

The report, which is part one of a series, treats of the "extent and growth of power of the five packers in meat and other industries."

"A fair consideration of the course of the five packers thus followed and the position they have already reached must lead to the conclusion that they threaten the freedom of the market of the country's food industries and of the large agricultural interests linked therewith," says the report.

"The meat packers' control of other foods will not require long in developing," it adds.

URGES FULL PUBLICITY.

Details and data of the history of the packers' growth is interwoven with illegal combinations, rebates and with undisclosed control of corporations," the commission urges the importance of full publicity of corporate ownership for all industries.

In the absence of adequate laws the commission points out, "unfair competition may run its course to the goal of monopoly and accomplish ruin of competitors without the secret ownership being suspected, and, consequently, without complaint to the commission or investigation of facts. The competitor is in jeopardy so long as he has not the knowledge of true ownership, and the public is entitled to such knowledge."

Following out that "Big Five" packers jointly or separately wield overwhelming interest in 25 companies, minority interest in 95 others and undetermined interest in 93—a total of 213 companies—and that they produce or deal in some 57% commodities, the report lists factors in the packer invasion into related and unrelated industries.

In addition to meat foods, they produce or deal in such divers commodities as fertilizers and bone products, leather and cottonseed oil, hides and wool, glue and hair, soaps and washing powders. Their branch houses are not only stations for the distribution of meats and products, but take on the character of wholesale grocery stores, dealers in various food products and jobbers to special lines of trade."

INTERESTED IN BANKS.

The report states that the "Big Five" are interested in banks from which their competitor packing houses borrow money, as well as in companies supplying machinery and containers used by their competitor packers. They are principal dealers in cattle, sheep, swine and calves, future prices in standard cured animal products are determined and they are also manufacturers of hides and leather industry. In oleomargarine and large substitutes, in fertilizer, soap and glue.

"Individuals of the Armour family are owners of grain and elevator companies," continues the report, and J. Ogden Armour is also a prominent member of the International Harvester corporation, with its shipping and shipbuilding interests, its import and export business in agricultural lines, its interest in a company organized to develop cattle raising, meat packing and allied industries in Paraguay, its control of a large tea importing business, its agricultural machinery corporation, and its minority stock in the United Fruit Company. Some of Swift & Company's subsidiaries are growing tropical fruits in Mexico. Its interests in Mexico, the report says, have reached into the salmon fisheries in Alaska and a Morris company has large interests in Peru. Morris & Company has organized by the packers to work their cattle ranches and plants in the United States, Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, Brazil and Australia."

Only 19 Arrests in 48 Hours on Charge of Drunkenness

Eighteen men and one woman were arrested in Boston for drunkenness in the twenty-four hours ending at noon today. The number for the same period a year ago today was 94 men and 10 women. The greatest number in one station house was at the Joy street station, where six men were locked up. The other stations reported as follows: Hanover street, 1; City Square, 1; Lagrange street, 3; East Dedham street, 2; Athens street, 3 men and 1 woman, City Point, 1; West Roxbury, 1.

MRS. ARTHUR O'NEILL, whose affections were alienated by woman friend, according to husband's charge in suit for heart balm.

SAYS BRIDE IS ALIENATED BY WIDOW

Roxbury Liquor Dealer Sues Young Wife's Woman Friend; Counter Divorce Case Started

A remarkable friendship of one woman for another, that is alleged to have wrecked a home, is revealed in a suit for $5,000 entered in the Norfolk Superior Court by Arthur H. O'Neill, a Roxbury liquor dealer, against Mrs. Hazel Richardson, a comely young widow of Weymouth. The suit is based on the affection of O'Neill's wife.

O'Neill claims that his home life was ideal until his girl bride became friendly with Mrs. Richardson and that after said friendship, Mrs. O'Neill "left me and my home, for what cause of the divorce will meet Mr. Hickson and the whole subject of healing the sick had been given him.

Mr. Hickson said today that he would ask the clergymen to continue the work after his departure. He already has many warm adherents among the ministry.

"It has been astonishing to see the interest of the people in this movement," said the Rev. Willard Reding, rector of St. James' Church of Weymouth. "I have been much impressed by what I have seen, but I believe that this mission is the beginning of a great work for the Episcopal Church that has been too long neglected."

The crowd, in many instances, came from towns outside of Boston. The same services will be carried on with special extemporaneous prayers by the healer himself. Many children were present. All of them had to be carried into the church.

SOME CASES OF BLINDNESS.

Cases of blindness were noticed among those who went forward to the chancel rail.

In referring to his work, Mr. Hickson said: "I would all pray for these afflicted people. Don't think of yourself, but think of others who are worse off than you."

"I am sure if Boston would turn for a week and devote itself to praying city for the suffering ones who come here a blessing would follow."

Hickson has been receiving requests from various sections. The Rev. Dr. A. T. Kempton, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, Everett bridge, called attention to a few cases and said that they will be taken later over to the church.

The boy has been placed in the church, and the names of those who are interested in the work.

WOMAN CONDUCTING OUTING DIES AT BEACH

Overexertion while conducting an outing of the Glen Marche Dry Goods Club at Revere Beach is believed to have caused the death at Nantasket Beach of Mrs. Mae Harnett, 25, of Lowell. She died while being taken to the Nantasket Peninsular Park police office. Her husband was with her at the time of death.

HARDEN MAY COME TO U. S. AS AMBASSADOR

Berlin, July 11.—Maximilian Harden, editor of the Zukunft, is being prominently mentioned as the government's probable choice for ambassador to the United States.

Maximilian Harden has long been known for his opposition to the Kaiser and the militarist régime that surrounded the German prince. He repeatedly indulged in frank criticism of the government and the Kaiser during the war, with the result that his newspaper was several times suppressed.

IRISH FREEDOM FRIENDS SCORE McKNIGHT

Withdraw Deposits From Banks in Which President of Senate Is Interested

President Edwin T. McKnight of the Massachusetts State Senate was denounced for his "bigotry and discourtesy" to Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Republican, at a meeting of Boston Council, Friends of Irish Freedom. The action of Mr. McKnight in making it impossible for the distinguished Irish scholar to address the State Senate on his recent visit to Boston was condemned as un-American.

Former Senator Patrick J. Horgan announced to the members that several of his friends had withdrawn money from banks in which Mr. Knight was interested. Slips of paper were passed around informing members that Mr. McKnight was connected with several trust companies.

Attorney Daniel E. Irwin stated that he had withdrawn his deposit from the Peoples Trust Company because of McKnight's action in blocking De Valera's appearance before the State Senate.

On the other hand thanks were given to Mayor Peters, Boston City Council, Speaker Warner of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and Governor Bartley of New Hampshire for the courtesies they extended to President De Valera while here.

A pledge was given by all present not to purchase goods with the English trade mark on them.

Milk Dealers Up for Fines in Court at Roxbury

Fines were imposed in several milk dealers and the cases of others were continued by Judge Palmer in Roxbury Court today.

Peter Moore, of Fottler road, Mattapan, was fined $15 for selling milk below standard, and James Hickman of Boston street was fined $10 for a similar offense. Nicholas Brown of Northfield street was fined $10 for selling milk without a license.

Abram Gunsenhouse of Beacon street, Back Bay, and Carl Krensky, Humboldt avenue, Roxbury, were each charged with selling milk without a license and their cases were put over for a week. Henry Harrison of Columbus avenue, Roxbury, was charged with selling milk below standard and his case also was continued for a week.

ONLY 11 TO DROP LIQUOR LICENSES AT WORCESTER

Worcester, July 11.—All but eleven holders of liquor licenses in this city under normal conditions have applied for a permit from the license commission to sell 2.75 per cent beer starting July 15. A surprise was handed license seekers when the Bancroft Hotel management decided not to make application pending a ruling on 2.75 per cent beer by the Federal authorities. Three of the city's most exclusive clubs, Worcester Club, Quinsigamond Boat Club and Tatnuck Country Club, failed to apply for licenses.

MRS. JOHN MORRIS JENNINGS of Arlington, now on second honeymoon with soldier husband.

Off for their second honeymoon after a year's service in France on the part of the bridegroom, Lieutenant and Mrs. John Morris Jennings of Arlington have gone to "The Rock," their Summer home at Camden, Me. Lieutenant Jennings returned last week on the U. S. S. Virginia. He served with Company E, 3rd Corps, Field Artillery. Mrs. Jennings was Miss Ann Gertrude McCaffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. McCaffrey, of Arlington. They were married April 29, 1918. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Jennings, No. 44 East Eighteen street, New York city, and a graduate of Harvard, 1916.

BROCKTON LAST STRIKERS REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Brockton, July 11.—A conference between the representatives of the Last Workers' Union and the last manufacturers was held in an effort to terminate the strike declared by the former. The strikers are demanding an increase of 50 per cent. Last week asking for six cents per pair over the former price of four cents.

The manufacturers agreed to an increase of one-quarter of a cent but to arbitrate the rest of the increase requested. The union representatives declined to arbitrate the proposition of the manufacturers.

The number of men involved in the strike is only forty-five, but there are four factories in Brockton, Stoughton and Abington, and in addition several thousand shoe workers who depend on the last workers.

500 LIQUOR DEALERS CALL ON GOVERNOR

Headed by James J. Doherty and James T. Purrel, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Boston Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, more than 500 members of the organization marched to the State House to request Governor Coolidge to present the matter of rescinding war-time prohibition to President Wilson. In the absence of the Governor at Boxford, Secretary Henry P. Long assured the delegation he would bring the matter to the attention of the Governor.

SEEK TO REMOVE ITALY'S TROOPS FROM FIUME

Paris, July 11.—The peace conference hopes to open the way to get Italian troops out of both Fiume and Asia Minor through the report and recommendations of the special commission which has been ordered to Italy to investigate the situation. It is learned Italian troops are concentrated in Fiume and Asia Minor without any mandate from the conference.

CYCLONE KILLS WOMAN; 10 CHILDREN MISSING

Bradford, Pa., July 11.—A woman was killed and a score of persons were injured in a cyclone that swept over the residential section of Bradford.

Ten children were reported missing and a search was begun in the belief they may have sought shelter in another part of the city.

SUE EXECUTORS OF BELMONT MAN'S ESTATE

Harriet C. Chase of Belmont and Walter B. Douglass of Cambridge, as executors of the estate of Charles H. Chase of Belmont, have been sued for $25,995 by the Fertilizer Mfg. Co. of New York city.

It is alleged that the defendants have converted to their own use certain valuable machinery belonging to the company.

ONLY TWO "DRUNKS" UNDER "DRY" RULE

North Adams, July 11.—The second arrest for drunkenness in this city since war-time prohibition went into effect has come to light when a man who alleged he bought his liquor in Adams was taken into custody.

In the first arrest, the defendant stated that he laid in a supply.

Combined Ages 230 of Nuptial Pair and Best Man

Saco, Me., July 11.—William Lorenzo T. Davis, eighty-one, took as his bride Mrs. Dora Augusta Weymouth Davis, aged fifty-seven. The best man was Alan Davis, ninety-two years old, and the maid of honor was Mrs. Alexander Rankeiller, who was the youngest of the bridal party.

The Rev. Lester C. Holmes, who came across the river from Biddeford, where he is pastor of the First Baptist Church, to perform the ceremony, took occasion to compliment the bridegroom on his youthful vigor. The best man is the oldest member of the Sheridan Post, G. A. R., and the bridegroom is a member of the same post.

Although of the same name, the three Davises are not related.

The bridegroom and bride were widower and widow. Mrs. Davis kept house for her present husband many years. He was for a long period proprietor of a local fruit store.

COLORED GIRLS BARRED FROM BATHING POOL

Worcester, July 11.—Race prejudice exists at the Worcester Boys' Club in Worcester, and two young Worcester colored girls were denied admission to the swimming pool a week ago, on "Women's Night," by Superintendent David W. Armstrong, according to charges made by George T. Dominis, attorney, on behalf of a special committee of Worcester citizens, who have sent a strong protest letter to Reginald Washburn, the latter's predecessor. Also this letter was sent a conference was held by President Washburn, Attorney Dominis and City Councilman Charles F. Scott.

"I cannot understand why colored boys are allowed to bathe in the pool of the Boys' Club while colored women are barred," Councilman Scott said. "When the complaint was on to obtain funds for the Boys' Club colored people were on the committee and did their part.

"I have always understood the club to be for all classes of people without thought or question of creed or color. It is time the colored people of Worcester asserted themselves and demanded their rights. If any other people were barred from the pool there would be a big howl that would likely reach Washington."

A committee of colored citizens, composed of Rev. I. B. Walters, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church, Rev. Hiram Conway, pastor of John Street Baptist Church, and others have made formal protest against discrimination shown against women of their race.

Shipping Tobacco in Olde Virginia

"Except for occasional gossip of some depredation on a nearby plantation by the Indians there was no longer any romance or adventure in Jamestown. The peaceful monotony was broken only by the bustle and excitement when (all too rarely) a ship would arrive from old England and exchange her cargo for a load of good Virginia tobacco."

CITY MAY BUY ARMY FOOD FOR POOR

Council to Act at Once on Plan Laid Before Mayor by Congressman Fitzgerald

Immediate action on the part of the City Council to decide whether the city shall buy a portion of the surplus army foodstuffs to resell to the citizens will be taken according to a statement made by Acting Mayor Ford. A special meeting will be called for Monday, it is stated.

The purchase of such goods by the city for the purpose of distributing them to the poor and needy must be decided by the Mayor and City Councilors, according to a statement issued by Corporation Counsel Alexander Whiteside at the request of the American.

Despite the fact that Congressman John F. Fitzgerald has persistently urged the Mayor to take such action through a series of telegrams from Washington, this fact was not made public until late yesterday, when the American asked for the communications.

MAYOR THOUGHT IT ILLEGAL.

It developed that as far back as June 14 and 19 the Congressman had asked the Mayor to take action, and that on June 20 the Mayor replied to Congressman Fitzgerald that such a step was illegal. These communications were never made public by the Mayor.

Mr. Whiteside was asked by the American for an opinion as to whether or not such action was legal. In a statement, he says: "The authority which is granted by Chapter 205 of the General Acts of 1918 is sufficient to enable the city of Boston to purchase from the Federal government some portions of the supplies which the government proposes to sell, provided this is a time of war, public exigency, emergency or distress.

"This provision is an important one, and whether or not the present time is such a time seems to be more a question of fact than one of law."

WHO SHALL DECIDE?

"The statute is silent as to how the question shall be determined, but I presume that the Mayor and City Council would have the power to determine it. Certainly I have not, and therefore do not feel that it would be proper for me to express an opinion on that point."

In other words the corporation counsel has "passed the buck" to the Mayor and City Council to decide whether or not the citizens of Boston are living in a time of "public exigency, emergency, or distress."

When the question was referred to Acting Mayor Ford he stated that he would immediately take steps to call a special meeting of the City Council to decide the question.

Cleaned the Poisons from His System

Somerville, Mass.—A citizen of this city, who has suffered in the past, writes the following to Dr. True:

"I have taken all kinds of laxative, but none of it cleaned the poison from my system as your Elixir—will know what to use hereafter, considering the effects it had on me, as I feel splendid now—all my system needed was a real cleaning, which only your Elixir gave—other laxatives I have taken merely passed through my bowels.

Yours truly, MYRON E. JENSEN, 21 Masonan st., Somerville, Mass."

Dr. True's Elixir has relieved thousands of sufferers during the last 48 years. Imagine a prescription actually existing so long—doctors come and doctors go, but Dr. True's Elixir, which was given the world by Dr. True, is as of old, the best friend to be found in your medicine closet. KEEP NEW JAIL MENACE FROM MRS. SKEELS

Friends Have Not Yet Told Her of Refusal to Grant Extradition to N. J. at Once

Lawrence, July 11.—No news since the acquittal of Mrs. Mecele May Skeels Lundgren brought such happiness to the Lundgren household in Andover as that of the refusal of Governor Edwin of New Jersey to allow the Essex county jail to be extradited immediately.

The Lundgren family were informed of the action of Governor Runyon by the American, and it caused Alfred Lundgren, husband of the frail woman whom the law says some day is destined to face trial again on a murder charge. While it was no more than Mrs. Lundgren's relatives had expected, it relieved an anxiety felt for the health of the nurse whose condition is still very weak.

IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED.

She is reported as being slightly improved. Dr. W. D. Walker, her physician, said that she was in no severe pain and hoped to find her recovered from her nervous collapse by the end of the week.

"While it is true that Mrs. Lundgren has been in greater distress than she has been at at time since she came into my care," said Dr. Walker, "she is not dangerously ill. Her condition of fasting is common with conditions of nervousness and collapse. Mrs. Lundgren is not dying, as reported."

LAWYER MAY TELL HER.

It is probable that Attorney Daly will tell Mrs. Lundgren of the favorable action of the Governor, as report through the representations of her personal influence for removal from Andover at this time. She understands that the indictment in New Jersey has been pending against her, but is not familiar with the fact that her arrest for the New Jersey authorities on the charge of murdering her brother, Albert Willing, was being sought.

Every effort will be made to bring the accused woman back to a state of health which will allow her appearance in the New Jersey court to answer to the crime for which she was indicted last September. In the meantime it is likely that the defence will take legal action on the claim that while she is technically liable to trial on the charge of causing her brother's death, she was virtually acquitted of the crime on evidence heard in connection with the Gay killing.

DEFY SELECTMEN IN NANTUCKET MOVIE ROW

Nantucket, July 11—Defying the board of selectmen, which has refused to grant a motion picture license to the Nantucket Athletic Club, the club management gave a "movie" exhibit in its rooms here, and advertises its intention of giving others. The club members plan a finish fight with the village fathers.

It was announced that pictures of the "better" sort will be shown. This is generally construed as a rap at a member of the board of selectmen, who is alleged to control the only licensed motion picture house in town.

Officers of the athletic club charge that they were given no reason for the refusal of the license. They plan to make the rebuff an election issue next town meeting day.

MRS. BRANCHE'S BODY REMOVED TO GEORGIA

Hopedale, July 11—Mr. and Mrs. Dana Osgood accompanied the body of Mrs. Osgood's mother, Mrs. Ann Branch, from Hopedale to Augusta, Ga., where funeral and burial take place Sunday afternoon. She was aged 63 years and death was due to apoplexy. She had been visiting her daughter since May.

N. Y. VETERANS TO ATTEND CARTER LEGION MEETING

There will be a meeting of the William E. Carter Post, No. 14, of the American Legion in the post headquarters, Bulfinch street armory. Large delegations from the Buffalo, Rattlesnake and Red Hand Divisions, overseas veterans, are expected to be present.

A number of entertainments have been planned, including a picnic and athletic events, open to all the leading athletes of the East. This competition will be sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Association.

Colonel J. F. J. Herbert of Worcester, and former Assistant Attorney General William H. Lewis are among the speakers who have been secured for a smoke talk which will take when the officers are installed.

Young Fox, Dazzled by Auto Lights, Caught Alive

Milford, July 11.—William Mulligan, veteran Milford and Uxbridge policeman, accomplished the unusual feat of catching a young fox alive in the Brasseville district by the lights on the auto in which he had been riding.

Mr. Mulligan is a lover of animals, studies their habits and takes great delight in catching and training them. He said the glare of the lights dazed the fox for a moment and when he safely nailed it the animal came right into his arms. He has the fox on exhibition at his home, No. 30 East Main street.

FOUR CITIES PLANNING FOR NEW WATER SUPPLY

Taunton, July 11—Plans are underway to use Quittieas ponds here as the source of water supply for New Bedford, Fall River, Taunton and Brockton, with the small towns between these cities.

New Bedford has already a 7,000,000 gallon system installed, but they will be reimbursed for their expenses by those in favor of the metropolitan water supply system. The daily consumption of water in these four cities is estimated at 40,000,000 gallons.

To Build Big Organ

West Hopkinton, July 11—Earle W. Reed of the firm of George Reed & Sons, organ manufacturers, is to build an organ for the Swedish Congregational Church at East Orange, N. J. The organ will be run by electric power.

Canoeists in Peril During Parley Over "Dam Boom"

Lawrence, July 11—Lives of canoeists on the Merrimac river are in danger while the city of Lawrence parleys with William J. Ward, owner and inventor of what is known as the "dam boom," a device at the falls to prevent canoeists from being swept over when in the danger zone. The boom consists of a series of barrels chained together to form a barricade at the dam.

In other years Mr. Ward has charged the city $100 for the use of his boom and its maintenance, which he says amounts to much. This year he wants $500 and the city refuses to pay the increase. While the city officials parley the canoeists are in danger.

APPOINT LAWRENCE GAS MAN AGENT

Lawrence, July 11—Fred H. Sargent, connected with the Lawrence Gas Company for the past thirty years, was appointed agent for the concern, to succeed the late C. J. B. Humphreys, who died last week.

He has been superintendent of the company since 1900 and resides at No. 645 Howard street, this city.

AGREE ON STRIKE TERMS AT WORCESTER PLANT

Worcester, July 11—Settlement terms for the strike in the plant of the Norton & Knight Manufacturing Company have been agreed on at a conference between a committee of the strikers and the officials of the union, H. J. Skeffington of the Federal Department of Labor and Bernard Smith of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. It is expected the strikers will return to work Monday.

The strikers were given until Sunday afternoon to notify the manufacturer and, it is believed by the strike leaders, they will accept at another meeting in A. O. H. Hall, Sunday.

COPPER METAL SELLING IN FAIR QUANTITIES

Copper metal has sold in fair quantity for delivery during the balance of the year at 20½ cents a pound, it is reported. Wire manufacturers have been the best buyers so far, while requirements of brass producers has increased. Most of the demand from Scandinavian countries has been for wire rods and it is believed that much of such exports are destined for Germany.

On July 1 the copper stocks in England held by the British government are estimated at 95,217,400 pounds. This is a reduction during June of about 4,250,000 pounds, and provides an idea of the rate of consumption in the United Kingdom.

N. Y. DISCRIMINATION AGAINST FOREIGN BANKS

Under a New York State law a foreign bank with a branch in that Commonwealth is compelled not only to pay a tax of 5 per cent on money earned, but is not permitted to receive deposits there. As no such tax is levied on deposits placed by British banks upon foreign banks in London, English banking interests complain of discrimination and their government will make take retaliatory measures. It was stated recently in the House of Commons that the government had the matter under consideration.

On the other hand there is a movement in New York to have the Legislature at Albany repeal or amend the act. It is claimed that it is detrimental to New York city as an international money centre.

Steel Merger Rumor Denied

The rumor that the Republic Iron and Steel Company contemplated a merger is denied in New York by an official of one of them, and by Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, who says his corporation is not involved in such a deal.

More Lead and Zinc

British government supplies of lead and zinc increased in June. On 1 July Great Britain had 27,472,465 pounds of lead, an increase of 2,000,000 pounds, and 48,548,000 pounds of zinc, an increase of 2,200,000 pounds.

Cotton Market Opens Lower

New York, July 11.—The cotton market opened easier owing to weak cables and local selling. Private reports from the south said that crop conditions were good, but not enough to affect prices. Opening prices were about 40 points lower, yesterday's close. Opening range: July 34.15; Oct. 34.95; Dec. 34.90; Jan. 34.75; March 35.00; May 35.05.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, July 11.—The sub-treasury received $5,332,000 from banks on Thursday, making the cash net gain $18,400,000 since

SHIPPING ISSUES HIGHER AT NOON

Coppers Improve During Morning; Steels Are Uncertain in Trend

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon. This opinion is advanced, and as a whole can be confined to the bear faction. The sentiment is decidedly bullish, as a close follows from the movement. They had an indefinite trend. They were rather weak. Coppers advanced during the latter part of the forenoon. Kennecott, Inspiration, Chino and Utah and Utah all selling at their year's highest. Anaconda, which began with a fractional loss, touched the previous 1919 highest. American Sterling was likewise at their year's high. Marine common and Hide & Leather common sold at their record highest. Shipping stocks were strong. The market was active.

Issues to show the largest gains at 12 noon, included Cero de Pasco, Inspiration, Kennecott, Utah Copper, Texas Oil, Industrial Alcohol, National Lead, National Enameling, Haskell & Barker, Hide & Leather, American International and Granby.

VIGOROUS DEMAND AT START.

The effect of steadiness in the call rate yesterday was to stimulate a good demand for stocks today and buying was vigorous at the opening. A number of leaders began at gains of a point or more. Among them were Industrial Alcohol, United Cigar Stores, Southern Pacific, Royal Dutch of New York, Pierce Arrow, Marine common and preferred, Hide & Leather, American Writing Paper preferred, Savage Arms, General Motors, International Harvester, Lackawanna Steel, National Acme, National Lead, San American, Utah Copper and Texas & Pacific. Steel issues, excepting Midvale, had a receding trend and failed to improve during the first hour. The market remained strong and active during that period, however. Marine issues were the most bought. Industrial Alcohol advanced three points. Famous Players gained three. Copper issues were fractionally higher, but were not conspicuous. Rails were quiet as a class. A number of specialties were features of early trading.

TRADERS TALKED BEARISH.

The professional trading element continued to talk bearishly about the situation, saying the stock market is suffering inflation, and while trading and industries are expanding, taxation, wages and other costs are too high. To admit of prosperity. They continued to predict a reaction, the outstanding short interests is said to be unusually large. Big interests are said to have been taking profits extensively of late. Views expressed in that quarter are in contrast to the opinion of the rank and file, being cheerful in the main. Great stress is laid upon the amount of foreign trade the country will transact, surpassing domestic business regarded as inevitable. Generally speaking the idea obtains that the bull movement has a long time to run before culminating. The public desires to speculate appears to be waxing instead of waning.

Canadian Rail Deficit

The Canadian government estimates a loss of $15,000,000 this year in operating government railroads aside from a deficit of $3,000,000 in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific. This makes a total loss of $25,000,000. Rail construction during the coming year will cost $20,000,000 equipment and rolling stock $20,000,000, and betterments $21,121,000. These amounts to be met after with $25,000,000 deficit, will make a total for railroads of $91,512,000.

Cuban Crops Worth a Billion

It is estimated that cuba will derive $1,000,000,000 this year from its sugar and tobacco crops. They are the largest the island has ever raised. The sugar crop is 4,000,000 tons, and the present is the period of the greatest prosperity in its history. Wages were never so high, but the cost of living in Havana is said to be the highest in the world.

Specialties Sell at Record High Prices on Home Exchange

After a strong start the Boston market remained on a higher level all the morning. It was featured by a number of specialties which were the center of interest yesterday. Amalgamated Fairbanks, Walworth and Warren Brothers, all sold at record highest prices. Eastern Steamship issues were active and the preferred showed a forenoon gain of three and a half points at its highest.

Other strong and active issues were Cuban Portland Cement, Mexican Investment, U. S. Smelting, Calumet and Arizona and Copper Range. All were a point or more higher at noon.

Coppers were stronger as a class, although activity was confined to a few issues.

Issues to show small gains included Boot and Shoe Record, Nipissing, New Cornelia, Davis Daly, East Butte, Fairbanks, Stewart, Ventura and United Shoe.

GOVERNMENT NOT TO ORDER MORE RAILS

There is no foundation for the report that the Railroad Administration is to place an order for 500,000 tons of rails in addition to the one awarded in the Spring, according to the Iron Age. Japan has bought 200,000 tons within two months and is in the market for 5,000 more. France wants 5,000 tons. The 40,000 tons required by Belgium will probably be supplied by British manufacturers.

Increased iron exports are expected. There is an inquiry for 20,000 tons of basic iron from England, and Sweden, Holland and other countries in Europe are expected to place orders. June sales of pig iron in the case of some furnaces equalled the total for several preceding months.

ADD PENALTY CLAUSE TO SWIG BANK BILL

The Senate has added a penalty clause to the bill sponsored by Simon Swig allowing the monthly payment of interest by the savings departments of trust companies.

It provides a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment of not more than six months for any agent or representative of a trust company or savings bank paying interest on savings deposits, unless the same was earned and collected the preceding month.

Unless the bill is enacted by Tuesday Mr. Swig announces that he will be compelled to complete his petition for having the law passed earlier in the session submitted to the voters on the initiative and referendum at the November election.

The Senate, however, is expected to pass the measure along today.

Mr. Swig told members of the Senate that he likes the penalty clause and further suggests that a penalty of double the severity be imposed on savings banks, saving institutions and saving departments of trust companies which fail to pay interest monthly when such interest is earned and collected the preceding month.

New York Gold Exports

The latest statement as to gold withdrawals from the New York sub-treasury for shipment to foreign countries places the total at $51,643,-000.

HIGH FARES TO END ANOTHER CAR LINE

Bay State Co. Forced to Close Down Its Middlebore-New Bedford Branch

New Bedford, July 11.—Notice of discontinuance of the Bay State Street Railway Company line which operates between Middleboro and New Bedford was served on Mayor Ashley here with the announcement that the service will be eliminated after September 1.

The step was taken, officials of the road stated, because the local line could not be operated in conjunction with the twelve fare districts that have been compiled.

The branch has been maintained at a loss, one of the public trustees of the road stated, and unless financial assistance is forthcoming from the cities and towns affected by the proposed move, the car service will be discontinued after September 1.

Fares on the road now are more than those asked by the steam roads, and business over the branch has been very light. The New Bedford people are not in sympathy with the Bay State road and its 10-cent fare proposition.

THE JOY OF SAVING

How many of us save regularly a part of our incomes? Comparatively few! Most of us, more's the pity, live right up to the limit of what we earn, never stopping to think what is going to become of us in old age or in case of sickness, when we need money to take care of us.

The majority of us look upon saving as an irksome burden not to be taken up if we can possibly avoid it. We are apt to regard the man who saves as a "tight-wad" or miser in whose company "regular" folks can find no pleasure. We look down upon him and sneer at him perhaps—until sickness or some other misfortune visits him or his family. Then, when the next little bank account that he has been quietly laying up comes out of its retirement and steps into the breach to pay the doctor's, grocer's, and coal dealer's bills and drive away his worries for the future, we wake up and exclaim, "Well, darned if Brown wasn't a pretty wise chap after all."

And we begin to wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing to start saving ourselves.

If we are wise enough to have learned something from Brown's experience we do start saving. And greatly to our surprise we discover before long that saving isn't unpleasant—not a bit of it. In fact, we begin to enjoy it. Why?

Simply because we realize that we are building the foundations of a solid bank account that will some day make that long-hoped-for dream of the future come true—that will enable us to realize the ambition upon which we have set our hearts—to build a cozy little home or educate our children or do something else worth while. We are happy because we know that come what will in the future—sickness or old age or trouble—we have the golden means to bear us safely through. Therein lies the joy of saving.

Your local national bank or trust company is the ideal place in which to put your savings. It is safe and soundly managed, pays a good rate of interest usually compounded monthly, and offers you the advantages of a checking account and credit facilities. Its officers are your fellow-townsmen; they are interested in your success. Go in and see them—START YOUR SAVINGS ACCOUNT TODAY!

To Overcome Redness, Tan, Freckles, Blotches

If your skin is sadly reddened, tanned or freckled, just dab a little nurse de Milford's Cream on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the cream in the morning, fine, flaky, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually and gently, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so clear, fresh and youthful-looking, you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mervolized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is sufficient in most cases.

WOMAN SPEAKER SCORES LODGE AND GILLETT

Lively Tilt at School for Women Voters; Advised to Scorn Both Political Parties

Durham, N. H., July 11.—Speaker Gillett, "freshmen and bitter, scrimped and iced, and narrow of view."

Henry Cabot Lodge, "who for forty years has consistently blocked the progress of women's citizenship."

These are some of the expressions heard at the School for Women Voters here.

Points of evidence that the ballot will not dull the proverbial sharpness of the feminine tongue is being supplied during the school sessions. Caustic comments are heard hourly about public officials and the two leading political parties. The above expressions regarding Massachusetts' representatives in the national capital came from Mrs. Antoinette Funk, a Chicago suffragist, who was brought here to address the school.

A HERESY TILT.

It was after Miss Marjorie Shuler, also of Chicago, had spoken of the Republicans as having given women the vote. Mrs. Funk was on her feet in a minute and declared "the Republicans never gave us anything that they could get out of giving us. Neither have the Republicans ever stood for anything when they were in power. How about Senator Moses of New Hampshire?"

"Forget it, forget it," urged some women from the box. The verbal duel continued when the parties until Mrs. Mary I. Wood, in the chair, shut off what she termed the "run in."

Alexander Murchie, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, and William J. Allen, prominent New Hampshire Democrat, attended the school's evening session to wield what influence they could in favor of their party. "The Democratic ports for you, ladies," said Murchie with his best smile.

"Don't you believe all you hear, girls," warned Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker, teacher at the voting school. "There is so much black on both the two parties that we don't owe any particular gratitude to either."

SCORN BOTH PARTIES.

So the women voters are steering clear of friendliness to either party. They admit, however, that they may have to stoop to political tactics now in vogue in order to clean up the mess.

"Neither party is good enough for you, my dears," Mrs. Schoonmaker tells her pupils. "What we want is two new parties—a radical party and a conservative."

Women must invade the party caucus if they are to get anywhere with the vote, Mrs. Schoonmaker believes, and invade it thoroughly.

"They don't choose the candidate at the caucus," Mrs. Schoonmaker said. "It's only a joke. Let us women, when we get our ballot, not be deceived. My dears, the candidate is chosen behind a dirty curtain of that caucus room, where a few men, smoking their tobacco, get together to decide.

"Sisters," she urged, as gray heads and brown heads got together, "let us have our eye on that dirty curtain. Let us get behind it. We must join some party so we can go to the caucus where the men with the tobacco in their mouths are settling things. That is the place also where we will settle a few things, also, for our children and our husbands. For these last must be educated in the politics which they have heretofore managed so poorly alone."

Announcement was made by Miss Shuler that the old suffrage organization throughout the nation was to become the League of Woman Voters, a non-partisan body of voting women founded by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

VESSELS FOR PACIFIC FLEET OUTFITTING HERE

Several of the warships that are soon to go to the West coast are under repairs and taking on stores at the Boston navy yard.

Thirty-seven ships are to make the trip, comprising the Florida, Utah, New Jersey, Georgia, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Virginia, all of the capital class; scout cruisers Salem and Birmingham, 16 destroyers, 10 submarines, the collier Jason, the repair ship Melville and a number of French ships.

The Georgia, New Jersey, Virginia and Rhode Island, formerly the fifth division of the Atlantic fleet, have been assigned to duty on the West coast.

THANKS AMERICAN FOR LOCATING LOST SISTER

Heartfelt thanks to the Boston American for its help in locating a missing girl was received today in a letter from a Bangor, Me., woman. The young girl, who disappeared from her home and was later found through the instrumentality of the American, was a sister of the Bangor woman. The American published a photograph of the missing girl, with an appeal from the older sister to come home. The sister writes:

"I wish to thank you most heartily. I sought your paper for help because I knew it was widely circulated and would surely find her."

MISSING WOBURN GIRL IS SOUGHT

Adams California Fruit Gum Shares in the Conquest of the Air

The R-34 came to America with Adams California Fruit Gum as a necessary member of the crew.

It carried nothing that wasn't essential.

During this great voyage it gave the airmen courage, steadied the nerves of the new Columbuses.

It did its duty in this triumphant struggle against the uncharted spaces just as it served Valor and Victory in every Allied trench for five gruelling years.

And it served so well at a moment and in a place so totally unexpected for its use that the incident was set down in the log of the R-34.

The R-34 sails home with an increased supply of Adams California Fruit Chewing Gum.

From The New York Times, July 9

The New York World, July 9, says: "The supplies put aboard the R-34 for the return trip, in addition to 5,000 gallons of gasoline, include 200 pounds of bread, 125 pounds of cooked meat, forty-five pounds of potatoes, thirty-six pounds of chocolate, six pounds of tea, some pound cake, jam and plenty of chewing gum. The gum takes the place in a measure of tobacco. The men are forbidden to smoke during the voyage."

The thinking man's, the fighting man's nerve ration.

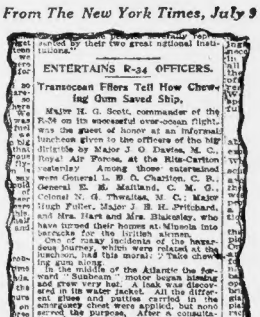
EXCERPT FROM LOG OF R-34, JULY 3

2 P. M.—Slight trouble with starboard amidships engine; cracked cylinder water jacket. Shotter, always equal to the occasion, made a quick and safe repair with a piece of copper sheeting, and the entire supply of the ship's chewing gum had to be chewed by himself and two engineers before being applied.



ENTERTAINS R-34 OFFICERS.

Transocean Fliers Tell How Chewing Gum Saved Ship.

Major H. C. Scott, commander of the R-34 on its successful over-ocean flight, was the guest of honor at an informal luncheon given to the officers of the big dirigible by Major J. O. Davies, M. C., Royal Air Forces, at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday. Among those entertained were General L. E. O. Charlton, C. B., General E. M. Maitland, C. M. G., Colonel N. G. Thwaites, M. C., Major Hugh Fuller, Major J. H. H. Pritchard, and Mrs. Hare and Mrs. Blakesley, who have turned their homes at Mineola into barracks for the British airmen.

One of many incidents of the hazardous journey, which were related at the luncheon, had this moral: Take chewing gum along.

In the middle of the Atlantic the forward "Sunbeam" motor became overheated and grew very hot. A leak was discovered in its water jacket. All the different glues and putties carried in the engine car chest were applied, but none served the purpose. After a consultation, about ten of the crew were called to the forward carriage. Sticks of chewing gum were given each, and they were told to chew as if their lives depended on it. It was said that perhaps the fate of all the crew did depend on their chewing ability, for with the ball of gum the leak was quenched.

A thin layer of the gum was smeared over the leaking part, and then a strip of copper was cut to fit. Over the copper, bicycle tape was bound, and a vote of thanks was passed for the gum manufacturers and the chewers.

TRY MAKES TRIAL TRIP

NOTED CRIMINAL ALIENISTS FOR HARRY NEW

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—Harry S. New, Jr., who claims to be the son of United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, will be represented by noted criminal alienists and will have funds to use surreptitiously in the defense when he is brought to trial for slaying Freda Lemon, the girl he says he killed because she refused to marry him. Funds from the East have reached here for the preliminary defense, it was learned today. The source of the money was not given definitely.

Developments during the day indicated the name of United States Senator New would not be brought into the case in the defense. It was believed the family has been financially wiped from the Senator, but would say nothing regarding the prisoner's plea.

As for the insanity plea in the future, Mrs. Mary Hay Burgess, one of the women who visited the prisoner in jail and who is prominently identified with the local and has no intention of leaving Los Angeles, was quoted to-day as saying that it was believed that Senator New would, when the time came, be able to secure the services of the best alienists in the country, through friends.

Mrs. Burgess refused to say who these friends might be, nor who alienists she hinted this would not be his last visit to Los Angeles, as he was expecting to return here soon.

Dr. Hugh Hodgkins, the attorney retained to look after the interests of defense, admitted that criminal alienists would be employed but declined to give their names.

The defense issued notice to-night that it would not attempt to show that Harry New was insane at the time he killed Miss Lemon.

Detective Sergeant Burns, who is in charge of the case, is expected here Monday, when he will be questioned by the defense.

THREE SAILORS HELD FOR ENTERING STORES

Merrill W. Paine, eighteen, Raymond Connor, twenty-one, and Frank Holbrath, twenty, sailors from the U. S. S. Salem, were held in $1,000 bail in the Roxbury Court, today on charges of breaking and entering. The sailors are held on two separate complaints, one charging entering the store of Max Hershon at No. 2 Blue Hill avenue.

VOTE ON STRIKE ISSUE AT UNITED SHOE PLANT

Salem, July 11.—A meeting of the Consolidated Shoe Workers' Union, Machinists' Union, will be held tonight at the North Street Rink to determine whether a strike will be called in the United Shoe Machinery Company's plant at Beverly. The union is making a demand for a closed shop. If a strike is called 1,000 hands will be involved.

SPOONING BAN AT NANTASKET HITS CUPID

Nantasket spooners beware!

The mild but policemen are out to get you, and young ladies with complexion which might cause trouble or crime, expose them without the adornment of stockings are under the ban, too.

Abbreviated bathing suits and the display of the limb on the beach, stockings or not, will also result in a subpoena to appear before a police court judge.

It's tough on the girls but the police at Hull and the Metropolitan Park police are on the warpath to rid Nantasket beach of what they term this "objectionable element."

Yesterday a squad of [illegible] consisting of four men in uniform of the Metropolitan Park police, and a like crew working under the direction of Chief Frank M. Reynolds of the Hull police, have their "spooning" clothes on and slightly patrol the beach and other secluded spots in the town area where lovers go to and from in this romantic business. Blackjacks are used, too, and play an interesting element that come under the category of "those two square-of-you fellers."

CREW OF R-34 DIDN'T FORGET CHEWING GUM

That the Times-owned "Scoop" of the newspaper office now plays a big part in the game of advertising is indicated by an advertising "scoop" of a large chewing gum manufacturer today in the shape of a wireless reading as follows:

"Will you please announce in your columns that the crew of the R-34, and also the Commander-in-Chief of the expedition, Major Scott, and Commander Pulleyn, have their 'spoonful' of chewing gum? We, as members of the crew of the R-34, and also the Commander-in-Chief, are proud to say that we have been chewing your gum during the whole of the voyage, and we are pleased to say that it has proved a great success. We have formed a committee made of men from different parts of the ship, and we consider it our duty to write you advertising same. We didn't know there was any gum aboard the R-34 until we arrived here," said Breasnahan.

"The log of the R-34 showed that chewing gum was served out July 3, and upon sending a representative to Roosevelt Field to further inquiry it was learned that Adams Calfornia Fruit Gum was the R-34's gum.

"Also, that a luncheon was given at the Ritz-Carlton in honor of the commander of the R-34, and the newspapers carried quite a story about the comment on the use of chewing gum during the voyage over.

"When the R-34 made preparations to return it took aboard a supply of various necessities, and the newspapers again carried a story on the plentiful supply of chewing gum aboard.

"Adams California Fruit was not in the ship's stores long in considerable quantity.

"War experience during the war, when we shipped 150 million sticks of gum to Europe for the use of the boys, convinced a great many people that chewing gum is a real nerve ration.

"Its use on the R-34 again emphasizes this fact, and we simply want to impress with the full force of the case, in the form of an advertisement, this advertisement appearing throughout the United States. The total cost that it represents is a snug little fortune."

THREE ARRESTED IN SHOE STORE BREAK

Harold M. Payne, Raymond Connor and Frank Holbrath, all sailors on the U. S. S. Salem were arrested early today in the act of breaking in the shoe store at No. 240 Blue Hill avenue.

While passing the store on his rounds, Patrolman Frank of station No. 9 detected figures moving about inside, and entering discovered the men in court suit. One of the sailors surrendered, but the other two made a dash for liberty.

In the dash the two dropped their hats, which led to their identification later when they were hooked up on the streets by other officers of the division.

MOVE TO SENTENCE DOCTOR IN HUGHES CASE

Providence, July 11.—Dr. Albert O. Robbins, seventy-six, found guilty of illegal surgery in the death of Dorothy W. Hughes, a thirteen-year-old girl who died in June, 1917, will be brought before the court for sentence, according to Assistant Attorney-General A. A. Capotosto. While the prosecution can name the venerable practitioner before the court at any time, it is said that no move will be made until after the summer season owing to the age of the doctor.

WANT A WIDER WASHINGTON STREET

Removal of the street car tracks from Washington street and extension of the sidewalks on both sides is the plan favored by leading merchants for relieving the congestion on that overcrowded thoroughfare. Pedestrians now are being forced to take to the centre of the street in order to make any kind of progress between Essex and Milk streets.

Any other scheme that has been proposed is impractical on account of the enormous expense involved, heads of the big retail establishments on Washington street say.

It has been suggested that the sidewalks be extended into the store fronts to form an arcade but this would have to be done by condemnation proceedings against the property and along Washington street is some of the most valuable property in Boston.

Mayor Fitzgerald, while in office, urged a double deck on Washington street, a subterranean one for vehicles with the surface reserved entirely for pedestrians. This, too, merchants claim, would prove so costly as to be prohibitive.

The arcade plan has been tried in Chicago and Minneapolis with success. There are advantages to the merchants on such a street in that it can be made to double their window display space. But business men along Washington street are strongly opposed to it.

T. K. Corey, manager of Filene's, says his concern had the arcade idea under consideration when their new store was built seven years ago, but after investigation found it impractical.

One year ago business men took up the Washington street traffic problem through the Chamber of Commerce. They succeeded in eliminating street cars from the street during the busiest hours of the day and having it made a one-way street for vehicles. This helped for a while, but the congestion is again becoming serious and another remedy must be found.

WOMAN PRESSED DEATH TRIGGER WITH HER TOE

London, July 11.—Not in many years has the public of London, from society belles to scrubwomen, and from ministers of the State to the humblest truck driver, looked forward with such feverish hunger for sensation as it is looking toward today's coroner's inquest into the suicide of Mrs. Nannie Atherton, latterly known as Mrs. Arthur Eliot.

It developed that the beautiful fashionable of princes and paupers, generals and privates, and wreckers of many a happy home, hit upon a uniquely ingenious idea when she found the shotgun which she used to end her life was too large a weapon to work with her hands and successfully accomplish the purpose.

She sat upon the edge of her bed and fixed the gun, with the butt on the floor. She held the muzzle against her cheek and pressed the trigger with her bare toe.

SEES GIGANTIC WAR TRUST IN LEAGUE

Johnson Declares America's Place Would Be Last in Quintuple Alliance

Manchester, N. H., July 11.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, speaking in this city, declared that the United States, "the world's greatest democracy," if it entered the proposed League of Nations, would occupy the subordinate position of the least consequential of a quintuple alliance, "as one of many bound irrevocably to the guaranty of the many's power and territories."

Commenting upon the fact that Americans had been told by the President that they must make the supreme sacrifice and throw in their fortunes with the rest of the world, the Senator from California demanded to know why.

EVOKES ANGRY RETORT

"The very query evokes from League enthusiasts immediate and angry retort" said the Senator, "and while they will not enlighten us, they hint darkly at our motives and deny even our good faith.

"The United States will play her grand part in the world in the future as she has done in the past—a part prouder because based upon American principles and American ideals. It did not require secret treaties and stealthy bartering of unwilling peoples to make our Nation play her part in the war; it does not require the guaranty of secret treaties and bargaining and bartering of unwilling peoples to have the Nation play its world part after the war.

"Throwing in our fortunes with the fortunes of the rest of the world means, with our altruistic brethren, throwing our fortunes to the rest of the world, that the rest of the world may do with our donation as it sees fit."

Senator Johnson reiterated his declaration that the proposed Alliance is not a League of Nations to prevent war, but a league of armed nations in a gigantic war trust, "stripped in the very creation of every idealistic purpose it ever had."

"It contains within itself the germs of many wars," he continued. "Worse than that, it rivets, as in the Shantung decision, the chains of tyranny upon millions of people, and cements for all time unjust and wicked annexations. It is a trust of existing present power. It never will prevent war. It will sanctify power in a new, a terrible and a sinister sense."

Repudiating the claim of its proponents that the proposed league is a democratic organization, Senator Johnson asserted that instead of coming closer to the people the League of Nations would go a step further from them; that under its proposed covenant the representatives of rulers, not of people, would govern the world, "sitting far away in secret."

DRAWN IN SECRECY.

Sketching the atmosphere of hidden and cunning diplomacy which prevailed at the Paris peace table, Senator Johnson declared that the League of Nations covenant had been drawn in secrecy and that the popular support for it in this country had been promoted by a stupendous national propaganda, paid for by millions upon millions of dollars, wrung by taxation from an overburdened people.

"We have been picking out pockets to poison our minds," he said.

The Senator declared that the amendment to the league covenant which is alleged to be intended to preserve the Monroe Doctrine, "could not have been written with any other purpose than the destruction of the Monroe Doctrine."

OLD 11TH INFANTRY OUTING ON JULY 21

Notices have been sent out by Charles S. Parker of Arlington, adjutant and quartermaster of the 11th Massachusetts Infantry Association, for the annual Summer outing of the survivors of the organization. As usual the outing will come on July 21.

The notices are signed by the president, Henry N. Blake, and Adjutant Parker. The association has now held reunions for more than fifty years. This year the outing will take place at the Relay House, Arlington, and all who are physically able to get out on that day are urged to report early at Bass Point, either to Mr. Blake or Mr. Parker.

BIG BLUEBERRY CROP IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Lexington, July 11.—The best blueberry season for a number of years is reported here by berry pickers throughout this section of Middlesex County. The crop is greater than any for years in many localities, and in most all sections the berries are numerous. Many persons have come out from Boston on the street cars, and some by automobile, to pick the berries, which are of an unusually large and juicy variety, with excellent flavor. The berries are selling anywhere from twenty-five cents per quart by amateur pickers, who peddle their berries from house to house, to thirty-eight cents at the local provision stores.

O'Keefe of St. Bartholomew's Church at Elmhurst, L.I. The couple are on a honeymoon in the West and will visit here soon. He is a bookkeeper at Hotel Astor, New York, and his bride is a milliner.

"MYSTERY" FOR R. H. WHITE'S OUTING

Some Stunts at Employes' Field Day at Nantasket Saturday Being Kept Under Cover

Three "mystery events" are on the program for the annual outing of the R. H. White Company's employes, to be held Saturday at Nantasket Beach.

What the three items are is known only to Doyle, who will act as starter. They are called "Steve Brodie or the Higher the Power," "Toledy Twinigs, or Thumpin' Dunk," and "The Doughnut Dunkers."

The day's events will begin with a progressive sports starting at 12:30. These will include a 50-yard dash and a three-legged race for boys under sixteen; a 100-yard dash for boys, sixteen to twenty years; potato and "fat ladies" races for women; a dash and a potato race for girls, and a fat men's race and 100-yard dash for men.

There will also be a baseball game of five innings, storehouse vs. all-store employes; a tug of war, buyers vs. floor superintendents, led by A. H. Standen and J. L. Doyle; and a luncheon.

The judges will be C. B. Johnson, M. McBride and H. P. Russell, all members of the firm, and Mr. McBride will act also as umpire. The affair is in general charge of the following committees:

General Committee—H. P. Russell, chairman; Sydney Blandford, J. L. Doyle, Miss Margaret Fleming, George B. Jojnson, Guy L. Lee, Maurice McBride, Gilbert H. Noyes, Arthur H. Sargent, Jr., Edward J. Vacation Clothes

an Investment instead of an Expense

There are men who usually exercise good judgment in buying clothes except when they annually go looking for "something cheap for vacation wear." They usually get about what they go looking for, are conscious of that fact every time they wear it, and when vacation is finished the suit is ditto.

We advise buying as good a suit for vacation as for any other time. You'll look better and feel better while you're away, and have a suit that will give many months of satisfactory service after you return.

If you prefer your vacation clothes to be an investment rather than an expense, this Live Store can be of great assistance to you. We deal in nothing but Good Clothes—the "investment" kind—at most attractive prices.

WOMEN IN NET TITLE MATCHES

Miss Marie Wagner Faces Miss Margaret Grover in Eastern N. Y. State Tourney

New York, July 11.—Miss Marie Wagner, former national indoor champion, and Miss Edith Handy, advanced in the semi-final round of the women's invitation tennis tournament of the Mt. Pleasant Club at Pleasantville, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. Miss Wagner, playing her usual good game, eliminated Mrs. Edward Lynch in the third round by the score of 6–1, 6–3.

Throughout the match the winner kept Mrs. Lynch constantly on the run, penetrating forehand and backhand drives down the side lines. So effective was Miss Wagner's driving that she won the first four games in quick order. Mrs. Lynch started impressively enough in the second set, winning the first game, but thereafter Miss Wagner outplayed and outgeneralled her opponent and had things much her own way.

Miss Handy also had an easy match. She defeated Mrs. William H. Pritchard in another third round match in straight sets by the score of 6–1, 6–0. Near the end of the match Mrs. Pritchard got her stroke working nicely and succeeded in winning two consecutive games. But Miss Handy came back and won the following two games and the match.

In the semi-final of the upper half today, Miss Handy will play Mrs. Howard W. Raymond, the former Metropolitan champion. In the lower half Miss Wagner is scheduled to play Miss Margaret Grover, who, like Miss Raymond, reached the semi-final on Wednesday. Miss Wagner and Mrs. Raymond are favored to meet in the final.

Only one match was played in the doubles. Miss Handy and Miss Irene Wood from Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Chapman in the semi-final of the upper half in straight sets. The score was 7—5, 6—1. The defeated pair played formidable game in the opening set, but in the second were unable to find

Toledo Must Return $1,248 to Fight Promoters

Toledo, O., July 11.—The Toledo boxing commission, under whose auspices the Willard-Dempsey championship bout was staged here July 4, will be obliged to turn back to the promoters the sum of $1,248.50, it was decided at a meeting last night. The commission finished checking up the figures.

According to official estimates the number of persons who paid the government tax had been reduced, totalled $110,275.34.

More than 100 persons, heretofore unknown, produced the proof necessary to get their money back, and $200 was left unclaimed. It will be refunded before the permit was issued.

The checking showed that the state tax originally reported was received was $25,751.65.

Work of razing the arena that seat about 21,000, was started today. Some of the lumber was damaged when the crowd rushed upon the ring when it was erroneously announced that Dempsey had won the first round.

Western Tennis Stars Win Two Out of Three Sets

Cincinnati, July 11.—Western tennis players won two of the three sectional championship tennis matches on the opening day. Robert Kinney of California surprised everybody by winning in straight sets from S. Howard Voshell of New York. The scores were 6–3, 7–5, 6–0. Irving Romaine of Texas, playing as a member of the Chester team, defeated Ralph Burdick, the Chicago player, in straight sets, 7–5, 6–2, 6–4.

In the doubles match the Western team, William H. Johnston of San Francisco and Sam Hardy of Chicago, won over National doubles Champions William T. Tilden, Jr., Philadelphia, and Vincent Richards, New Jersey, 8–11, 6–3, 7–5.

Minor League Men Ratify Abrogation of National Pact

Chicago, July 11.—All relations between the Major and Minor baseball leagues were definitely broken at a meeting of a committee representing the National Association of Minor Leagues. The committee adopted resolutions ratifying the action taken at the joint meeting with the Major leagues in New York last January, when the national agreement was abrogated.

The Minor leagues will operate independently of the Major leagues and will attempt to settle all disputes within their own organization instead of appealing to the National Commission for final decision or review of any case. The action of the minor league committee means that the Minor leagues will not be permitted to draft players this Fall. Contracts and territorial rights, however, will be respected.

How to Play Baseball

This is the forty-first of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson Mr. Fullerton continues to tell how to become a pitcher. These articles will be a feature of the American's sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

By HUGH FULLERTON

Pitchers never speak of an inshoot, incurve, upshoot or such terms that we amateurs use. The inshoot, the upshoot, all the negative curves are referred to as "putting something on the fast one."

True there have been pitchers who through freak physical development have pitched curves that could be referred to in such manner, but the "spread," the outshoot or the down shoot, the outdrop, which are variations of the positive curve made possible by the natural wing of the arm.

It is impossible to set the hand and arm into position to pitch a negative curve which curves enough to be designated as such. Later we will show how pitchers have developed the "fadeaway" into practically a slow curve which curves in either direction.

The fast ball, however, is the chief stock in trade of any pitcher. But remember that NO ONE BALL can be used successfully. That is the batters will not any curve or any style of delivery, if they know what is going to be pitched. We must, therefore, consider each style of pitch separately and later study the art of mixing them up.

The fast ball "done" when pitched directly overhand with great force. It shoots inward when pitched sidearm. The grip is exactly the same in each case, the thumb being held directly underneath the ball and the first two fingers gripped hard upon it on top, the third finger and the tip of the little finger serving as guides.

It is the natural position for gripping a baseball, and therefore it gives the greatest degree of accuracy, although the use of speed tends to lessen control.

The ball does not "hop" more than two inches even when pitched with terrific speed, and the inshoot seldom exceeds that. The effectiveness of this ball is due to the fact that the "hop" or shoot comes just before the ball reaches the plate. The greater the force with which the ball is thrown the greater the "hop" or the "break" on the ball.

It is well to remember that all batters claim ability to hit speed. This is true to the extent that they can gauge and hit ordinary speed. Few men possess sheer speed enough to drive the ball past the batter before he can hit it. Put something on every ball, in a fixed command in the game.

When a pitcher "loses his fast ball," he may really be throwing it faster than before, but failing to release it with his fingers giving it the twist that causes the hop or break.

Practically nothing like a "straight" ball exists in pitching. Every ball angles or darts in the air, but some less than others. The object of pitching fast balls is not to strike out batters but to make them hit the ball either close in the handle of their bats or on top or underneath.

The hop and break are sufficient to prevent batters from meeting the ball squarely.

In using fast balls practice aiming them high, then low. As a rule, the fast ball is most effective when pitched high and inside the plate, but, as will be told later, pitching at angles is quite as much an art as pitching speed.

In using the fast ball it is safe to pitch at "the wrong end of the bat." If the batter is "crowding the plate," pitch inside, close to him. The object is double—first, to drive the batter back; second, to make him hit the ball with the handle of the bat, if he is standing far back, pitch toward the outer corner so that the ball will hit near the end of the bat.

SPRINGFIELD SHORT SHIP RACES ARE POSTPONED

Springfield, July 11.—The light harness racing events at the Exposition Grounds were postponed on account of the poor condition of the footing caused by a heavy downpour of rain just previous to post time.

Today's card embraces the 2:12 and 2:20 pacing classes, the 2:29 trot and the Handy stakes for two-year-old trotters.

AL SEARS BOXES NATE SIEGAL AT C. A. C.

First Bout for Former Since His Arrival from Europe with Yankee Division

C. A. C. Selections

Al Sears to beat Nate Siegal.
Billy Carney to beat Joe Daley.
Teddy Murphy to beat Tommy Marks.

By JACK CONWAY.

Al Sears, East Boston welterweight, asserts he will win new honors for the 26th Division when he meets Nate Siegal of Revere in the feature bout of ten rounds at the Commercial A. C. tonight. As Siegal was formerly a member of the 82nd Division, the tussle might very well be termed a battle between two war heroes.

Both boys saw many months of service in France. They went over the top, spent long periods of time in the trenches and suffered all the hardships of war.

Regardless of all this they found time in which to box. Siegal took part in twenty-seven winning bouts while overseas. At the time he was managed by Eddie Mack, who is a popular scarred hero of the 82d Division.

It will be Sears' first fight since coming home with the Yankee legion. He has been training for several weeks and is of the opinion he will show enough class to get the decision since he is a stayer.

The Revere boxer showed at the Commercial Club a couple of weeks ago. He received a draw after ten torrid rounds of mulling with Stanley O'Brien of south Boston. Siegal has only been in this country a short while when he battled O'Brien, and he says he was not properly acclimated.

The whirl between Joe Daley, formerly of Brooklyn, now of South Boston, and Billy Carney of New Bedford has also aroused considerable interest among the fans. Daley has been working out with Young Ascuto and both boys claim they have never been in better condition.

The other ten-round set-to will feature Teddy Murphy of the West End and Tommy Marks who also hails from this city.

So that everybody will be happy, Bob McKinnon has arranged a six-round curtain raiser between a couple of local boys.

The show should furnish plenty of lively fighting and some good boxing. All the shows usually score with a bang. This is particularly true when they are staged at the Commercial A. C.

BOXING NOTES

Says Danny Morgan: "You can tell the world that Eddie Fitzsimmons will be the next lightweight champion if he can get Benny Leonard to enter a ring with him. Also let it be known that Fitz has his left hooked to a hammer all ready to plant on the chin of Young Kioby."

Nobody ever accused Morgan of being a nut bashful in making claims. As a result, the friends of Leonard and Kioby have no immediate cause for worriment.

Paul Doyle has quit Big Broadway and in future will make his home in Boston. He has secured Tony Paloon Johnny Dundee and Jimmy Valentine which will be held at Mechanics Building next Tuesday night under the auspices of the Armory A. A. It is one of those contests which none of the regulars care to miss.

Larry Cantley, the club's referee, will be the third man in the ring.

Bobby Josephs says he wants another bout with Lynch. You have got to hand it to the South End kid for having more than his share of courage. If Josephs had not persisted in forcing the fighting in his bout with Lynch, the result might have been different.

KRAMER TO RACE ALF GRENDA AT REVERE OVAL

All-Star Bill Arranged for Tomorrow Night by Manager Butler

Champion Frank Kramer, the grand old man of the bike game, will make his first and only appearance of the season at the Revere cycle track tomorrow night in a special sprint match, best two in three, with his old rival Alf Grenda.

The coming of the veteran champion is always the signal for an overflow outpouring of the fans and since his remarkable comeback of last season the New Jersey sprint king is proving a greater card than ever with the followers of the wheel sport.

Tomorrow night will also bring out another star in George Chapman, who is rated as one of the best pace followers in the country, according to the reports from Philadelphia, Chapman will have a chance to show just how good he is in a 25-mile race behind the motors against Herbert and Hooker.

In addition to the two events above the amateurs will have it out for the New England title with the semi-finals and finals to be run off.

The entire card is a long one but as it was Kramer's only open date, Manager Butler decided to let the local fans have an opportunity of seeing the old favorite.

PAL MOORE TRAINING FOR BOUT WITH WILDE

London, July 11.—Pal Moore is rapidly rounding into shape to meet Jimmy Wilde at the Great Olympia Coliseum on July 17 and the ringsiders roundings to the little village of Standing, Surr, a couple of hours ride from London. Moore spends all day exercising. He runs seven and works out nightly by that British boxing experts who have watched him during the last week declare he is rounding it.

One exercise which always arouses wonderment is the way in which Pal begins bounding up and down as high as the ton of the ropes of the ring, keeping his feet close together and leaping straight into the air at least a dozen times in succession.

PENNOCK PICKED TO STOP THE BROWNS

St. Louis, July 11 — Herb Pennock was Manager Barrow's selection to break the losing streak of the Red Sox in the final game on Sportsman's Park. He was opposed by Wayne Wright.

Three defeats in three games and trying out three different outfields is the record for the Red Sox. Ed Barrow probably will shift and continue to shift. He has visions of getting out of the second division in this series with the Browns, but judging by what happened in the double-header, the world's champions are about fixed to remain where they are.

They tossed off two games 5 to 1 and 4 to 3.

HOOPER ON BENCH.

The pitchers have lost their footing, but the outfield is in a terrible state at present. Harry Hooper isn't hitting like he did in other days and was benched in favor of Frank Gilhooley. Bobby Roth tried centre field, but the attack of charley horse returned and he had to sit on the bench, while Lamar played centre field. Ruth slightly strained his right knee in batting practice and had to miss one game.

With the Red Sox leaning he Walter Barrow wanted some hitting and he sent Ruth to left. Babe smacked a home run in his first inning but a mental error by him at cost the Red Sox the second game.

PASSES PROVE COSTLY.

At the same time Bill James is penalized as a rescue pitcher. Bill passed three batters in the eighth inning. Two scored, the tying and winning runs, but Bill would have escaped but for Lamar who gave a high fly coming in his direction, walked and thought some one else was going after it. The ball almost hit him on the head and two runs scored.

The first defeat was a regular defeat. The Browns hummed Sam Jones for five runs in five innings while Wallman gave the Sox one score. However, in the second with timely hits getting runs and the lead the Sox were entitled to the spoils but a miscue came at the wrong time and the Browns won out.

Charles Hoffner Leads In Metropolitan Open Golf Championship

New York, July 11 — At the end of the first days play in the Metropolitan Open Golf Championship, Charles Hoffner, professional of the Philmont Country Club, led the field of more than 100 golfers at the North Shore Country Club. Hoffner's total for the 36 holes was 145. He played consistent golf all the way, making his first round in 72 and his second in one stroke more.

Emmet French was the runner-up with a score but one stroke worse than Hoffner's. Walter Hagen national open champion, was third with 153, while Mike Brady runner-up to Hagen in the recent Brae Burn competition, turned in a card of 153.

MISS ZINDERSTEIN WINS CANADIAN TENNIS TITLE

Toronto, July 11 — By defeating Mrs. Bickle of Toronto in the final of the open women's tennis championship, Miss Marion Zinderstein of Boston won the Canadian title. The scores were 8-6, 6-4.

What They Want the Kaiser For

THE dope is that the Crownless Prince was to suffer for his doorknob domed old man. If the allies decide that Billhelm is to squat in one of Mr. Edison's morris chairs like Chinless (no wants to be), in the voltage in his place. Both birds are a total loss and if a nut has to be sacrificed as a burnt offering to the billikens of vengeance, what difference does it make whether the nut is a Lil Kury or a pecan? You chirped it.

IF the heir to what's coming to the Kaiser desires to be a lizard on a lounge packed with 20,000 volts, it isn't likely that he will find all the tickets in the hands of the speculators.

AND there is no doubt that the Chinese will be certain enough to pop up and give the Slope Jawed One his seat. If the Big Quarrette vote that Billhelm is to be hanged in order [illegible] or keep-well remains the All Highest will surrender first [illegible] a No. 6 manilla collar over a No. 15 neck [illegible] Adam's apple. And as the Kaiser lost [illegible] a hemp necktie.

The Suffernzollerns

IF the Chinless One has that thimble power brain of his all set to suffer, all he has to do is to wait his turn. [illegible] Like the old kick with the buttermilk, suffering [illegible] that we ain't got nothing else but. There's enough suffering to go around in the Suffernzollern tribe and half-way back again.

THE count against the Royal Debris is longer than a giraffe's tonsils. It covers more area than a whale's dreamsea. And it gets bigger each day like a bald spot. Enough nibbles after nuts, that can be hung on him before he is hung himself, have been counted. Brand slapped him dizzy for shooting the red pants off her Zouaves. England got back for bombing tuffin, fons and other English institutions. Ameri[illegible] to be revenged for yards and yards of suffering. Our claim is an eye for an eye, and a black eye at that.

SEPARATED sweethearts and engaged couples by 3,000 miles but didn't do a thing for married guys.

MADE liars out of good honest birds with that income tax stuff.

GAVE the cootie legs on both sides so it didn't do any good to turn him over.

CAUSED wages to jump so high that landlords lost sleep counting it.

JUMPED champagne to fifteen a quart, causing much suffering among poor.

FOUR million afternoon Yanks want him for making them get up in the morning.

BANKART NAMED TO COACH AT COLGATE

Hamilton, N. Y., July 11 — Another change was made in the Colgate baseball coaching situation when Bankart was appointed to succeed Coach Buckley as baseball coach again next Fall. This will be a case of great satisfaction to both student body and alumni, as Bankart has been popular of Colgate during the past two years and Bankart's return will mean a strong comeback in baseball circles. CITATIONS OF HEROES IN 101ST INFANTRY, 'BOSTON'S OWN' FIGHTERS

EDWARDS, LOGAN IN LIST

Chaplain O'Connor and Bert Ford, War Correspondent, Also on Honor Roll

The Boston American publishes today the full text of citations of heroes of the 101st Infantry, known as "Boston's Own Regiment," who have been recommended for French decorations.

In the list appear the names of Major General Clarence R. Edwards, formerly commander of the Yankee Division, Colonel Edward L. Logan, the popular commander of the 101st Infantry, and the Rev. M. J. O'Connor, Roman Catholic chaplain of the Boston regiment and later ranking chaplain of the division.

ORDERS WERE SIDETRACKED.

General Edwards was the only division commander in the American Expeditionary Forces to return home without French or American decorations. It is no longer a secret that the French government several times recommended General Edwards for the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre, but the orders were sidetracked by somebody at G. H. Q.

Every other American division commander received a Distinguished Service Medal. Recently is was announced that the French Government had awarded General Edwards a Legion of Honor and a Croix de Guerre.

"The citation in today's list is for a Croix de Guerre. After describing the gallantry of General Edwards the citation concludes: 'By this one of his many acts of personal bravery he set an example for the men under his command and seem, if ever, equalled by any general officer of the American army.'

OTHERS ON THE LIST.

"For extraordinary leadership and bravery" is the opening sentence of Colonel Logan's citation.

Others of the 101st Infantry cited are Major William J. McCarthy, Major Albert C. Gray, Major Harry C. Martin, Major Frank H. Piper, Major Thomas F. Murphy and Captain Edward W. McConnell, a Boston lawyer, who was killed in action.

Captain Jean Le Meitour, liaison officer for the French army on the staff of Brigadier-General Charles H. Cole, of the 53d Infantry Brigade, carried the list of citations with him when he sailed for France on July 1. He will submit them to the French authorities.

Among the Yankee Division citations is that of Bert Ford, who correspondent, who served with the International News Service and the Boston American at the front.

LIST OF CITATIONS.

The citations follow:

COLONEL EDWARD L. LOGAN, 101st Infantry—"For extraordinary heroism in and leadership during the night of July 24th, in the vicinity of the Bois de Longuetre, during the second battle of the Marne. Colonel Logan exhibited an exceptional fine example of leadership. When apparent misunderstandings had occurred between battalion commanders and the line was not established as ordered, Colonel Logan with his usual courage passed through a violent bombardment and went into the woods and arranged the proper liaison. Caught in another bombardment he was compelled to lay in a ditch in the roadside all night."

MAJOR-GENERAL CLARENCE R. EDWARDS, Commanding General, 26th Division—"On the night of April 20, 1918, when the headquarters of the 101st Infantry, situated far in advance of any battalion headquarters and practically in the front line of the Toul sector, was exposed to a violent enemy bombardment, Major-General Edwards rushed to these headquarters and rendered valuable assistance in the direction of the attack which was subsequently made by the enemy on Seicheprey. By this one of his many acts of personal bravery he set an example for the men under his command seldom if ever, equalled by any general officer of the American army."

CHAPLAIN M. J. O'CONNOR, 101st Infantry—"A venerable clergyman, who at all times during the service of this regiment in the cause of France, directed with great fearlessness the spiritual welfare of the soldiers with a zest and ability, mingled with courage and fearlessness. Chaplain O'Connor, senior chaplain of the 26th Division had the spiritual care of a division soldiers buried in France and discharged his duties to the great satisfaction of all."

MAJOR THOMAS F. MURPHY, 101st Infantry, 26th Division—"On the night of July 24, 1918, in company with Colonel Edward L. Logan, Major Murphy often captain assisted in arranging the proper liaison between units of the 101st Infantry at great personal risk of life and limb. Caught in a heavy concentration of shell fire and bombardment he was compelled to lay all night in a ditch by the roadside in the vicinity of the Bois de Longette."

MAJOR WILLIAM J. McCARTHY, 101st Infantry—"For extraordinary leadership and courage. On the night of October 29, 1918, when the companies of his battalion had been confused Major McCarthy, in pursuit of his custom display of courage and bravery, personally went into the front line and reorganized platoons so that an attack, planned for the next few hours, could be successful. This in the vicinity of Molleville Fme., northwest of Verdun, a leader of extraordinary ability."

MAJOR ALBERT C. GRAY, 101st Infantry — "For extraordinary bravery. On October 29, 1918, Major Gray then captain and assistant of the 101st Infantry when two battalions of the 101st Infantry had been held up Major Gray passed through the barrage and delivered orders of extreme importance to the company commanders and gave them by his experience and executive ability in arranging the troops and personally leading them forward many lives were saved and by this exhibition of courage and ability set a most splendid example to his fellow officers and men."

MAJOR FRANK H. PIPER, Assistant Surgeon, 101st Infantry—"From July 21, 1918, to July 25, 1918, Major Piper was in charge of a dressing station and first-aid station which was constantly under heavy enemy bombardments. He savoured the wounded and dressed their injuries, thereby exhibiting wonderful courage and nerve. As elderly man, he continued to perform his duties throughout the entire time the 101st Infantry was in action in France, a most brave and splendid officer."

MAJOR HARRY C. MARTIN, Surgeon, 101st Infantry—"On the night of July 24, 1918, in company with regimental headquarters of the 101st Infantry, situated far in advance of any battalion headquarters and practically in the front line of the Toul sector, was exposed to a violent enemy bombardment. Major-General Edwards rushed to these headquarters and rendered valuable assistance in the direction of the attack which was subsequently made by the enemy on Seicheprey. By this one of his many acts of personal bravery he set an example for the men under his command seldom if ever, equalled by any general officer of the American army."

CAPTAIN ARTHUR F. DESMOND, 101st Infantry—"On the night of July 24, 1918, in company with Colonel Edward L. Logan, Captain Desmond assisted in arranging the proper liaison between units of the 101st Infantry in the front line at great personal risk of life and limb. Caught in a heavy concentration of shell fire and bombardment he was compelled to lay all night in a ditch by the roadside in the vicinity of the Bois de Longette."

CAPTAIN JAMES T. DUANE, 101st Infantry—"On the night of November 3, 1918, Captain Duane organized a patrol which successfully captured fifty-four of the enemy, thereby assisting in securing information of the utmost importance at the particular time of its execution. A brave, fearless officer and leader and a prominent figure in all attacks in which the 101st Infantry was engaged, rendering very conspicuous service in the fierce fighting in which the 101st Infantry was engaged from October 29th, 1918, to October 28, 1918, and discharging the duties of a leader of extraordinary ability with courage and fearlessness."

LIEUTENANT JAMES R. KELLEY, Supply Company, 101st Infantry—"During the night of July 24, 1918, lieutenant Kelley, then in command of Company E of the 101st Infantry, led his men with an exceptional display of bravery and leadership. During the attack he was severely gassed and although injured badly in the beginning of the engagement he continued to press his men forward with the results until he was compelled to be placed in a hospital, thereby causing at least fifteen casualties about his body and necessitating his removal to the hospital."

FIRST LIEUTENANT DANIEL H. BURKE, M. C., 101st Infantry—"During the engagement of the 101st Infantry when it was in operations for Lieutenant Burke to perform ordinary duties as a dentist he always volunteered to succor the wounded to the best of his ability. He defended during himself always in a position to administer regularly required to the front line of fire office. On July 16, 1918, in the vicinity of the town of Seicheprey, during a severe bombardment, a dugout containing twenty men was struck by a shell and demolished. Lieutenant Burke ran some yards to the scene of the disaster and aided in the rescue, but during the time the bombardment was in progress."

FIRST LIEUTENANT ARNOLD BREWER, Company A, 101st Infantry—"During the engagement in which the 101st Infantry was engaged in a fierce attack with the enemy from October 23 to October 28, 1918, Lieutenant Brewer personally led every attack in the first wave with his company directed against the enemy. An officer of unquestionable bravery and courage, he many dispatches of which have made him one of the foremost officers in the American army."

FIRST LIEUTENANT RALPH G. DONNELLY, Company H, 101st Infantry—"A brilliant officer and splendid leader. On the morning of September 12, while leading his men in an attack on the Mihiel salient, in the vicinity of Lieutenant Donnelly received mortal injuries which later resulted in his death. He was one of the most fearless officers in the American army, as proven by fearlessness in the attack in which the 101st Infantry was engaged."

FIRST LIEUTENANT WILLIAM B. O'SHEA, 101st Infantry—"On the night of November 4, 1918, lieutenant O'Shea, in command with Captain James T. Duane, led an attack on the enemy front line which was successful in the capture of fifty-four of the enemy. A brave and fearless officer he participated in all engagements he participated in while an officer in the 101st Infantry."

FIRST LIEUTENANT PATRICK F. HEALEY, 101st Infantry—"On the night of July 24, 1918, the company with Colonel Edward L. Logan, Lieutenant Healey assisted in arranging the proper liaison between units of the 101st Infantry in the front line at great personal risk to his life and limbs. Caught in a heavy bombardment he was compelled to lay all night in a ditch by the roadside in the vicinity of the Bois de Longette."

FIRST LIEUTENANT FRANCIS W. PORTER, Company B, 101st Infantry—"During the attacks made by the 101st Infantry, from November 2, 1918, to November 10, 1918 Lieutenant Porter displayed great courage and fearlessness in leading his platoon and embarked men in attacks on the enemy."

SERGEANT-MAJOR JOHN J. MADDEN, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"On July 17, 1918, on a signal disturbance near Chateau Thierry, was being subjected to a heavy enemy bombardment, Sergeant-Major Madden, with a rare display of courage and fearlessness, rushed to the dugout and assisted in removing the dead and wounded. All this during a heavy bombardment and at great risk to his life and limb."

PRIVATE WILLIAM KINDER, Medical Troops, 101st Infantry—"On July 17, 1918, when a signal dugout located near the town of Dompitn, near Chateau Thierry, was being subjected to a heavy enemy bombardment, Private Kinder, with a rare display of courage and fearlessness, rushed to the dugout and assisted in removing the dead and wounded. All this during a heavy bombardment and at great risk to his life and limb."

SERGEANT DAVID MICHAELS, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"On July 22, when the Headquarters Company of the 101st Infantry was situated at Chamitsant, Fme., near Chateau Thierry, during a heavy bombardment of Sergeant Michaels rendered valuable assistance in succoring many wounded of an infantry organization which had been slayed in a heavy bombardment by the enemy, injuring a great many of the soldiers of the unit. Sergeant Michaels, at great risk to life and limb, carried the wounded to a first-aid station."

"The following enlisted men of the 101st Infantry are recommended for the Croix de Guerre with Palm. A portion of officers of the regiment had become either killed, wounded or otherwise engaged they commanded platoons of the various companies, displaying exceptional bravery, bravery and ability in the handling and execution of the duties which befell them. This during the action through the 101st Infantry engaged the enemy from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, northwest of Verdun."

Private Albert Potter, Company A, 101st Infantry.

Sergeant Thomas Walch, Company A, 101st Infantry.

Sergeant Charles H. Bailey, Supply Company, 101st Infantry.

PRIVATE WILLIAM GRIFFIN, Company H, 101st Infantry—"During the time in which the 101st Infantry fiercely engaged the enemy northwest of Verdun, from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Private Griffin, a runner, delivered messages of the utmost importance to battalion commanders from the regimental commander, passing at all times through heavy barrages of machine gun and artillery fire, exhibiting at all times an exceptional display of human courage and fearlessness."

PRIVATE CHARLES F. HANDY, Company F, 101st Infantry—"During the period in which the 101st Infantry fiercely engaged the enemy northwest of Verdun, from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Private Handy, a runner, delivered messages of great importance to battalion commanders from the regimental commander, passing at all times through heavy barrages of artillery and machine gun fire."

CORPORAL DAVID DORSON, Company F, 101st Infantry—"A motor courier of courage and ability, during the violent attacks which the 101st Infantry launched against the enemy northwest of Verdun from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Corporal Dobson distinguished rare courage and fearlessness in delivering important messages."

PRIVATE PERCY YOUNG, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"During the fierce attacks in which the 101st Infantry engaged the enemy northwest of Verdun, from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Private Young proved a fearless and valiant soldier by effecting liaison through terrific bombardments between battalion commanders and regimental commanders and between the brigade commander and regimental commander. Many times accomplishing this under fire at the risk of his life and limb."

PRIVATE HERMAN HENRICH, Company H, 101st Infantry—"A runner of exceptional bravery and daring. During the attacks in which the 101st Infantry was engaged directly with the enemy from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, northwest of Verdun, Private Henrich repeatedly displayed exceptional bravery and courage in delivering important messages from the regimental commander to battalion commanders, passing many times through heavy barrages in order to accomplish same."

CORPORAL DONALD STUDLEY, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"During the attacks in which the 101st Infantry was engaged from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Corporal Studley passing time and again through heavy barrages and delivered important messages from the regimental commander to battalion commanders."

SERGEANT EDWARD B. CREED, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"On the night of November 7-8, 1918, in the vicinity of the town of Beaumont, northwest of Verdun, Sergt. Creed, then corporal Sergeant Creed, then in command of a carrying party of pioneers from the Headquarters Company of the 101st Infantry, led his men through a particularly heavy bombardment carrying large quantities of food to the men in the front line, and through the same despite the violence of the bombardment successfully delivered his supplies to the hungry men. This an act of valor and unusual gallantry exemplifying an unusual display of leadership and personal bravery."

CORPORAL JULIUS HOULNE, Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry—"On the night of July 14, 1918, Corporal Houlne, a motor courier of the 101st Infantry, passed through a terrific enemy bombardment of gas and shrapnel and delivered a message to the battalion commander of the 101st Infantry, then situated near the town of Vaux in the Chateau Thierry sector. While returning a gas shell exploded and threw Corporal Houlne from his machine, his body then getting covered with gas."

PRIVATE MICHAEL H. PERKINS, JR., Company D, 101st Infantry—"A brave and fearless soldier, who sacrificed his life during an engagement in the vicinity of Molleville Bois, about October 25, 1918, in which he assisted, secured entrance into a concrete pill-box, after maneuvering of the most skilful kind and captured at least twenty of the enemy, killing three or four in the course of a bitter struggle which he had alone with the enemy in the pill-box."

PRIVATE EDWARD HICKEY, Company G, 101st Infantry—"During the attack made by the 101st Infantry, northwest of Verdun, from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Private Hickey, when the officers and non-commissioned officers of the company were exhausted, commanded the second platoon of Company G, 101st Infantry, and executed it in such a soldierly and fearless manner that he received the commendations of his fellow soldiers. At many times, during heavy bombardments and machine gunfire, he led the men with a dash and courage that was remarkable, thereby proving himself a true and worthy soldier."

CORPORAL THOMAS F. DOHERTY, Company G, 101st Infantry—"During the attack made by the 101st Infantry, northwest of Verdun, from October 23, 1918, to October 28, 1918, Corporal Doherty commanded the first platoon of Company G, 101st Infantry, and executed it in such a soldierly and fearless manner that he received the commendations of his fellow soldiers. At many times, during heavy bombardments and machine gunfire, he led the men with a dash and courage that was almost unbelievable, thereby proving himself a true and worthy soldier."

Edwards' Citation of Bert Ford as Hero with Yankee Division

BERT FORD,
Boston American man cited by General Edwards.

BERT FORD, Correspondent, International News Service, Boston, Mass.—"A fully accredited war correspondent who, during his entire service in France, rendered a most valuable and patriotic service to the United States and France by transmitting to the great American public through the medium of the newspapers correct and accurate accounts of the military successes of the armies of both countries. The character of his accounts typified by their clearness and accuracy the great personal hardship and risk he encountered in endeavoring at all times to secure and transmit the truth. His work proved of the utmost assistance to the 26th Division."—General Edwards' citation of Bert Ford for distinguished war service, sent to the French government.

Woman Threatens Suit Against Druggist Because He Sold Her Substitute For Nuxated Iron

Case Is Brought To Attention of Physicians Who Warn Public

ter That Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same Strength and Endurance

As Organic Iron — Nuxated Iron.

With the threat to sue her druggist because he refused to sell her something other than the iron, strength and blood tonic, organic iron, Nuxated Iron, which is now being prescribed by physicians all over the country against their will, a well known druggist here says is due to the health and welfare of the public in general, that the public should be warned against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron. Those who feel the need of a strength and blood tonic should go to their family physician and ask him to prescribe Nuxated Iron for them. Unless you specifically state that you want Nuxated Iron you may be given something else which the druggist has on hand, as the druggist can make more profit on the substitute. Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one which is widely prescribed by physicians and is now being dispensed by druggists throughout the country. It is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make one constipated or upset the stomach. Nuxated Iron is one of the most highly beneficial organic iron tonics known to the medical profession, and is entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or the will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: The wonderful public benefit which is being derived from Nuxated Iron, as stated by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Inspector of Drugs for the State of New Jersey, and by Dr. Alfred Wilcox, of New York, and by the Westminster Gazette, London, and Medical Review of Reviews, New York, and Medical Author Dr. George H. Hunter, late Surgeon to the Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh, and Consulting Physician of the Royal Hospital of New Jersey, and by H. B. Varnum, Consulting Chemist, and by the Academy of Medical Science, Philadelphia, and by many other prominent physicians and chemists, has caused many imitations to be offered to unsuspecting people, and as a result many persons have been deceived into accepting substitutes which contain little or no organic iron. Nuxated Iron is now sold under a positive guarantee of satisfactory results or money back. Nuxated Iron is not a patent medicine, but is a well known scientific preparation of iron which is now being dispensed by druggists throughout the country. Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one which is widely prescribed by physicians and is now being dispensed by druggists throughout the country. Nuxated Iron is one of the most highly beneficial organic iron tonics known to the medical profession, and is entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or the will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

words NUXATED IRON are printed thereon. There are thousands of people taking iron who do not get the desired results because their stomach rejects it. They soon simply because they have taken the wrong kind of iron. Before you take any iron you should make the following test: See how long you can hold your breath after taking a dose of iron. Then test your strength by trying to lift a heavy object. If you have taken the right kind of iron you will be able to hold your breath for a long time and lift your object with ease after using for two weeks. Then test your blood and see how much your strength and endurance have increased. Nuxated Iron is now sold under a positive guarantee of satisfactory results or money back.

Do You Know That Our American Flour Is Sold to the English for Half What Americans Have to Pay?

The American has received the following interesting letter from Congressman John F. Fitzgerald:

Editor Boston American:

I wish to thank you for the splendid service that your newspaper is doing in connection with the movement to decrease the cost of living. Profiteering is going on in every branch of the American industry to such an extent that if it does not stop in an orderly manner it will be stopped by methods that will not be pleasing to the American people.

It seems to me, considering the sacrifices that the world has made for humanity's sake during the past five years, that there are men engaged in many lines of business who still insist on getting every dollar of profit out of business that the public will stand.

No matter what line of business you look into you find conditions about the same. The meat industry is the worst offender and it does not hesitate to try to get control of the government itself. Even today we have the spectacle of the government loaded with 150 million pounds of canned meat products, bought at an average price of 40c and over, when put up for sale gets a figure from the beef packers, who are the only ones that bid, of 25c to 29c less than what the government paid these very men a few months ago. The strange part of it to me is that when the goods which lay in the storehouses in Boston were put up for sale they were advertised in one newspaper in a ten-line advertisement and were sold in lots of not less than 20,000 pounds. The public, who owned these lots, could not get a very good chance to buy them and, of course, did not make a bid.

Then again we have the spectacle of the biggest banana crop in the history of the world, with bananas higher than ever in the history of the world, retailing at from 40c to 60c a dozen as against 15c to 25c a few years ago. The United Fruit Company, which has a monopoly of the banana trade, shows a profit for the three months of the present year of over $40 a share, after huge amounts were set aside for excess profits and other taxes.

A few days ago Mr. Barnes, the Food Director, reported that there were 40,000,000 bushels of wheat in stock as against 16,000,000 a year ago, with the new wheat crop already in from the extreme Southern and Southwestern States. Thus we have the spectacle of more than twice as much wheat remaining at the end of the season than a year ago, with almost twice the average wheat crop in sight; certainly 500,000,000 bushels more than we can use. Yet flour is retailing for $16 a barrel, or twice what it was before the war. Indeed, if it was not for a visit that I paid to Mr. Barnes' office a couple of months ago and showed him some figures which came into my possession of where there was available wheat not noted in the figures given out by his department, according to the newspapers at that time, flour would have gone to $18 a barrel. I, therefore, hope you will keep up the good work. The great big issue before the American people today is how to reduce the high cost of living and to stop profiteering. When profiteering is made a crime like stealing, for which it is another name, only then will the people get justice. JOHN F. FITZGERALD.

Mr. Fitzgerald brings out some interesting facts well known to the authorities, but not so well known to the public.

The American told its readers the other day that American flour was being taken to England across three thousand miles of water and sold to the English for half what the American people are compelled to pay for it.

This week has witnessed a memorable departure, we hope, in the course of government action toward food profiteers. The American has always stated that there never was any trouble with our laws concerning the protection of the public against these food brigands. The difficulty has been in the administration of the law. Somehow or other the man who steals great sums of money always steals enough to be able out of his profits to secure his safety and thus the cost of securing safety becomes an ordinary part of the cost of the business and is charged to the public.

In Massachusetts, this week, we have seen the beginning of a new policy under the administration of Attorney-General Attwill and District Attorney Pelletier. Under that new policy some gentlemen, alleged to have been profiteering in fish, were indicted, tried and convicted under the old laws, and Judge Sanderson very properly, if they have been convicted without error, gave them jail sentences. A jail sentence is a very wholesome thing for gentlemen on profit bent without regard to law.

But unfortunately these are very small operators. The sphere of their activities was very limited and local. The big food profiteers in meat and grain and in great staples of life, operating throughout the nation, have never yet been even threatened with the prison. When gentlemen of high finance find themselves in serious danger of bread and water to eat and a stone slab in a narrow cell, they will stop profiteering.

In the meantime we must thank Attorney-General Attwill, District Attorney Pelletier, their assistants and Representative Allen for the good work they did within their sphere of action to inaugurate a new policy toward profiteers.

AT FORTY YOU ARE AT THE CREST OF THE HILL

Mr. Man, forty year- old or older, what are your prospects for the future in the position you now hold?

Will ten years more strengthen or weaken your standing with the powers that be in the business house with which you are connected.

Are you looking on where you are because you do not know any other line?

Are you sticking to it because you see your way clear to save enough to go into business for yourself presently?

Do you think you have seen your best days, feel indifferent to the business and merely draw your pay where you work?

Whatever you are, whatever your conditions, if you have reached the age of forty it is time you took stock for the future.

You may have a young family, you may have a grown family, you may be alone in the world, but whatever and whoever you are, you should stop at [illegible] the road and do some careful figuring on your plans for the future.

Think of the years [illegible] the far side of the hill, going down, never to come back.

You do not want to land all in a heap at the bottom.

You may have to zigzag to get down in good shape, but get under way before the momentum actides your future.

LOW FINANCE

By ARTHUR CHAPMAN.

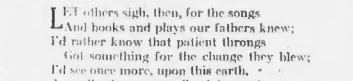
It is proposed to coin six and seven cent pieces, because of the soaring purchasing power of the cent and nickel.—News Note.

IN times just prior to the war
The cent held up its head in pride;
And of the nickel, oft we swore
It was a friend both true and tried;
But now no cent will stand alone—
The nickel's wondrous strength has flown.

THE newsie looked with some respect
Upon the humble copper disc.
But now one offered to his sect
Is done at individual risk,
Because—odsbodkins and cfsoons!—
The cents must travel in platoons.

IF used to be a nickel bought
A heap of things that we could name;
Quite eagerly was it besought
By those engaged in tradesmen's game;
But nowadays no bargain drive
Leads off with: "Take me home for five!"

LET others sigh, then, for the songs
And books and plays our fathers knew;
I'd rather know that patient throngs
Got something for the change they blew;
I'd see once more, upon this earth,
A small coin get a small coin's worth.



PLOTS AT HOME.

"Twelve Million Feet of Movie Film Stolen in Syracuse," says a headline. Dramas originate right in the producers' own warehouses.

TOO UNPLEASANT.

"Shall doctors tell the truth?" asks a medical journal. Well, not the beauty doctors, anyway.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Nature's seed forming process, according to a scientific article, takes 2,000,000 years. And yet the coal paying process must take place within thirty days, or there's a collector on one's trail.

IT WOULD RUN ANY NUMBER OF FACTORIES SEVERAL YEARS.

A scientist has figured out the amount of energy in a lighted match. What the world wants to find out is the amount of energy wasted by those who are always borrowing matches.

IMPOSSIBLE

Lincoln was able, even without taking up the prohibition question, to discover that it is impossible to please all the people all the time, but still there are men who don't seem to believe it.

Letters to the Editor

Elevated Propaganda

Editor Boston American:

The public have from time to time in the past been notified to beware of German propaganda, but in my opinion the present Elevated officials have got the Germans beaten to a frazzle.

Any person who believes their many statements should be sent to the psychopathic hospital for observation.

It is true the cost of labor and material have advanced greatly, but that is not wholly the cause of the great indebtedness that now confronts the company.

If the Elevated officials would tell the truth enormous sums are extended in many ways they do not care to have the public know. I would like to know the cost to the company of getting the bill through the Legislature to safeguard a few favored stockholders and thus guarantee 8 per cent. dividend.

There is no need of going outside the State for so-called experts' opinions to solve the Elevated problems, paying large amounts for advice of no benefit.

Passengers' Advice

Passengers can give advice without cost that is sane and practical. We read of the present large cars costing $15,000 each. Saying so and the figures they present does not prove it.

In another statement the cost of a trailer car is slightly over $5,100. Now the only additional cost for the $15,000 car is to put in a motor and controller, etc. It certainly does not cost $9,000 more.

The cars are made under certain forms, and all equipment can be had at a lower cost than if made otherwise. Officials have also stated the scarcity of labor was the cause of the cars being crowded. This might be true during the war, but not at the present.

I would suggest the following method to increase the revenue. Charge 10 cents for a seat with light, 7 cents for seat without light, and 5 cents for strap hangers, or during the rush hours have cars labeled for strap hangers only, with all seats removed, fare 5 cents.

On one Chestnut Hill car I notice four of the cross seats have been removed, giving more room for strap hangers, but for some reason (economy?) no additional straps put in.

Had Money Then

Why, only a few years ago when the fare was 5 cents the company had more money than they knew what to do with, as they paid a lawyer $100,000 as a retaining fee, $36,000 to an ex-President to act as an adviser, besides giving the faithful help $20 each at Christmas.

The 10 cent fare will not be popular. The trustees have an object in mind by the increase, which they dare not tell at present. L. F. FOSTER.

As a "Leatherneck" Sees It

Editor Boston American:

Will you allow a "leatherneck" to make a few remarks? On returning to the shores of the United States after a sojourn, strenuous but elevating, on the other side of the Atlantic, we were greeted with the information that during our absence the country had voted to prohibit the sale of liquors containing more than a given percentage of alcoholic content.

Naturally, coming from a free country, we asked, "What the blazes does it all mean, anyhow?"

Is "politics" forever to dominate this continent or is there some chance that the men who are returning from contact with FACT will make a housecleaning.

It is necessary. It is vital. In no other country in the world has the power of the "fad" been so pronounced and pernicious.

The latest and most revolting success of the purveyors of ready-made virtue is one which must make all normal men angry.

It has been forced upon the United States during the absence of the best of its citizenry. It was enacted under duress by weak-kneed representatives, who do not represent; by fanatics in petticoats and fanatics in pants who ought to be in skirts—they were never in khaki—and who will, if they have the effrontery to offer themselves for re-election, be relegated to the rear benches.

It is not merely a question of thirst or morals. Every man has his own. The matter is broader and horribly significant.

Any man or woman can make whiskey. The formula is simple and the need will provide the implements.

Do you doubt it?

I know what Wilson THINKS about the whole business. He has been "over there" and has learned a few lessons in the real meaning of the word "Freedom." It is just a question if he will be able to impress his moss-back outfit that with his broadened vision he will endeavor to undo that which his Pecksniffian colleagues have accomplished? MARINE.

RECOGNIZING WOMEN AS HUMAN, NOT ANGELIC

By Winifred Black

A SAN FRANCISCO man rose up in the Senate of California the other day and defied the lightning by saying that he wouldn't vote for a certain bill, and the reason he wouldn't vote for it was that in his opinion women are not angels.

He still lives, but there is talk of sending to France for a Croix de Guerre as a decoration for his hardihood and courage.

Times are indeed changing. Twenty years ago every man in public life, no matter who he was or what he really thought, or how he treated his own wife and his own daughters at home, always made a point of speaking in public as if the only difference between the heavenly choir and the plain, ordinary, everyday woman of America was that the heavenly choir was winged.

We can not agree with your point of view, Senator Burnett, of San Francisco, but there are those of us who stand in awe of your courage and others who would like to throw up our hats to think that the time has gone by when woman had to take a sugary compliment and swallow as if she loved it, when what she wanted was just a little plain common sense justice.

Observe, also, that this most amazing thing happened in a State where women vote.

Does this mean anything to you?

Men and Women

It does to me—it means a whole lot, and most of the things that it means I like.

I know I ought not to like them—that is, I should have thought I ought not to like them twenty years ago.

Twenty years ago when a woman wanted anything—her own income for instance—that she earned with her own brain or her own hands or her own nerves—she had to flatter and wheedle, and coax and say "Please excuse me for living" in every tone of her voice, and every syllable of her timid request.

Not so today—oh, not so at all!

The new generation is bored to death with a woman who wants to be flattered, and the modern woman doesn't know what on earth to do with the old-fashioned kind of man who tells her she is too sweet to have any brains, and too lovely to bother with common sense.

We're Just Human

Don't try to get any sympathy from the men, Lady Alabaster.

Pleading—pooh! Oh, that never goes out of fashion! When a man falls in love he forgets all that he's ever learned and learns a lot that he's never had a chance to forget, and the old, old story never really changes. Its fashion anywhere, anyway, any time.

Women not angels, Senator Burnett of California? Well, I should hope not! How in the world would they live with you everyday human men if they were?

You like your husband just as he is, don't you, little Mrs. Stay-at-Home? If he should forget to grumble now and then you'd be worried to death about him, and you know you would! And how would he ever forgive you for all your airs and all your whimsies and all your useless, forgetful-ness if he were not just an everyday, human, well-meaning human being himself?

Time enough for angels when we say good-by to this funny old world of ours—don't you think so, girls?

Slept in Closet

The Rev. William H. van Allen, D. D., rector of the Church of the Advent, upon his arrival at Brest, France, where he intends to do Y. M. C. A. work during the Summer, found that place so congested with human beings that no room in the hotels could be found for him. He is a large man and found a sleeping berth in a closet, which he describes in a letter to a Boston friend in the following words: "I slept in a closet with a candle in the ceiling to serve for a window and cramped for the east wind of Boston."

HOW TWO "MASTERS" ARE GROWN FROM ONE

Perhaps you aren't buying a "genuine gold watch" this year—nevertheless you're going to be very much interested in learning just how gold watchers carry on their thriving business of "making two masters grow where there was once a trick only just discovered for clever stealing, in this work [illegible] an ingenious trick, genuine masterpieces are cut in two, carpentered together, their missing parts copied, and are then foisted upon super-millionaire collectors at fancy prices. A revelation, in the case.

Man Leaves the Bottom Rome Did What We Do She Still Fights Buy Now, or Regret Later

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

President Wilson tells the Washington reporters that he will not wait for ratification of the treaty to resume business dealings with Germany and Austria. He could use the treaties with the enemy as a club over the Senate if he chose, but he does not choose.

That is good for American business men, who will find English and other competitors quick to fill the needs of the Central powers, stripped bare of almost everything, from cotton to copper.

By the way, American individuals and American business men will do well to BUY NOW.

You think prices are high, and they are, but wait a while and you will see some real high prices after Europe begins to buy and this country starts in spending freely the billions that have been printed and scattered about in this war.

Business men, buy your stocks now or regret it later. Individuals, buy what you will need for the next twelve months, NOW, if you can.

Nothing will be cheaper except money, which is just now the cheapest thing in the world.

You have noticed how high wages and high cost of living creep up side by side, the high cost of living always keeping a little ahead. It cannot be otherwise.

Six workers are making shoes, hats, clothes, bread, houses, furniture. They find living expensive, ask for more and get it. The sellers of shoes, hats, clothes, food, etc., raise their prices because wages have been raised, and up goes cost of living. By and by the workers come back, saying, "Living has gone up again, we must have more." They get more, living goes higher again and they, the workers, come back again for more. It is an endless chain, and just where it will stop time will tell.

Meanwhile, BUY NOW, do not wait to discover just how high prices CAN go if possible. Buy a dwelling and be independent to that extent.

Just about twenty-three hundred years ago Rome found that her treaties with her allies were getting old and decrepit. She renewed her treaty with Carthage, including the humiliating agreement to trade only where Carthage permitted, and was soon at war with her most powerful neighbor.

The Gauls had dropped in and burned Rome, the dangerous rival had been killed off with the capture and looting of Veii, the inhabitants all made slaves. Then it had to be done over again, and over again, on and on through the centuries. We are now making alliances and a league to last forever. We have defeated the powerful enemy and have reduced her to economic slavery.

Shall we have to do it again, over and over, or have we at last found the resting place and bulwark of the pyramid of human selfishness neatly and permanently on its point?

One year and seven months of war cost the people of the United States, gross, more than thirty billion dollars. Those are figures from Secretary Glass. It was a busy, expensive period of nineteen months. This total of thirty billions will be cut down somewhat, in a rather unpleasant way, when the ships built by the people are sold at bargain prices to private owners, instead of being retained in government ownership, as they should be. The cost of war will be reduced also, WHEN AND IF our friends in Europe return nine billions lent them.

As you learn about the cost of war—almost two billions a month—you take a fresh interest in the League of Nations, and our promise to go over and begin fighting again, when this, that, or the other thing happens.

If you had seen the great British dirigible R-34 preparing for her start at midnight before last you would have realized that there are on earth, in the oceans, one of water in the earth's hollow places, the other of air several scores of miles deep, we living at the bottom of that air ocean and just learning how to swim up into it.

The great airship, bathed in intense light, glistening silvery gray, looked and was a great fish of the air ocean. Thousands of men on the ground looking up reminded you of little oysters and clams fastened in the ocean bottom, watching some huge whale about to sail away.

But man is an ingenious little clam, for at last, after living on the bottom of the air ocean half a million years, he has learned how to swim up into it. Henceforth he will live at the bottom of the air, but travel in it and through it. No more slow dragging along on the bottom in clam fashion. Man at last can navigate the air ocean. He is a mollusk no longer.
